ALL GERMANY IN STATE OF SIEGE

Bavaria's Hands Strengthened By Berlin Decree.

AIMED AT THREATENED REVOLT

Dictator Von Kahr an Acknowledged Monarchist, Enjoying Confidence of All Parties—Communists Keep Up Agitation and Engage in Clashes at Several Points—Developments in German Situation.

Berlin, Sept. 28.—The German government was surprised by the report that an "exceptional condition" had been proclaimed in Bavaria, and that former Premier Von Kahr had been appointed general commissioner, which is about equal to dictator.

Later the government issued a decree proclaiming the same state of siege for all Germany, and placing all executive power in the hands of Minister of Defense Gessler.

The general feeling is that the Bavarian decree was an open challenge to the national cabinet. The latter's general decree was the prompt rejoinder. From a high governmental source, however, the following explanation was given: "It is quite incorrect to interpret the happenings as indicating hostility of Bavaria toward Berlin, or of Berlin toward Bavaria. On the contrary, Bavaria's action was wise, since it takes all the wind out of the sails of the extremists, while at the same time satisfying the less extreme, but strongly national elements, who demanded some action. The Berlin government's decree was designed solely to strengthen Bavaria's hands in the struggle against the forces which are threatening an uprising."

Despite the extraordinary situation, created in Bavaria, best informed observers there do not expect any "putsch" from either side. Dictator Von Kahr, who is an acknowledged monarchist, enjoys the highest standing among all parties in Bavaria.

The Berlin Democratic and Socialist press assails the Bavarian action, the latter especially because Von Kahr is known to be bitterly opposed to the Socialists. It is reported that Herr Severing will be named dictator, and as he is a Socialist this fact illuminates sharply the difference of the attitudes of Berlin and Munich.

Meanwhile the communists, keeping up their agitation, have staged a 24-hour protest strike at Essen and Gelsenkirchen and are demanding the overthrow of the Stresemann cabinet. The Hamburg communists have made a similar demand and have called to their followers "to the barricades," as in the French revolution.

A mob at Zuttan, Saxony, attacked the police, who were forced to fire, killing two and wounding 14 of the crowd. Monarchists and communists clashed at Annaberg, Saxony, and the result was one dead and 25 wounded. Despite the red activity, however, there seems to be little danger of a concerted "putsch" from that source.

WARD SOON TO KNOW FATE

Spends Thirty-second Birthday Anniversary in Court Room.

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Today is the 32d birthday of Walter S. Ward, and the young millionaire baker spent the morning listening to the charge to the jury that is trying him for the murder of Clarence Peters, the penniless ex-marine, who was killed by Ward May 16, 1922. By nightfall it is believed that Ward will either be under sentence of death in the electric chair, on his way to a long term in prison, or a free man, back home with his wife and two small children.

The sentencing of the state was a dramatic event in which Attorney General Carl Sherman, himself but slightly older than Ward, thundered malediction upon the young millionaire, who, he said, had "slain an unarmed man."

Show Girl Marries Again.

Cleveland, Sept. 28.—Geneva Mitchell, show girl, whose marriage to Robert Savage, wealthy student, was annulled about a year ago, is married again, but again her mother threatens to have the marriage annulled because Geneva is still too young. This time the husband of Geneva is Jack Hayes, theatrical publicity man. Mrs. Verna E. Mitchell, herself at one time a show girl, says Geneva is only 16 now. A year ago, when Geneva married Savage, it was said, the bride was 17.

WOULD AID FARMERS

Development of Irrigation Projects Urged by Borah.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Further development of reclamation and irrigation projects throughout the west was urged upon President Coolidge by Senator Borah of Idaho as a measure of government aid to the farmers. President Coolidge was informed by the senator farmers are compelled to pay too much for water on reclaimed and irrigated lands, and that if these charges were reduced and payments extended over a longer period the farmers would be in better position to make a profit from their industry. Senator Borah announced that he will introduce his bill which was considered at the last session to cut the charges on reclamation projects in half and permit those who take up land under these projects to have forty years in which to pay.

NEWS BRIEFS

Mrs. J. W. Moss and Mrs. James P. Stevenson were "drowned" when an auto was driven into Norfolk (Va.) harbor.

Forty were killed in battles between agrarians and state troops around Santa Maria del Oro, in the Nayarit district of Mexico.

A band of about 40 men, some of them masked and armed, bound and gagged the guards at the warehouse of the Philadelphia Distilling company at Eddington, Pa., and escaped with from seven to 10 truck loads of whisky.

FARMERS MAKE APPEAL FOR HELP

Would Have Congress Called In to Special Session.

SUBMIT DEFINITE PROPOSALS

Agricultural Bankers and "Dirt" Farmers From Central Northwest Call at the White House and Give President Coolidge First Hand Information as to Conditions in the Wheat Belt.

Washington, Sept. 28.—President Coolidge heard from the mouths of "dirt" farmers and agricultural bankers from the affected states the story of desperate conditions in the wheat belt of the central northwest and their earnest appeals for help from their government.

The delegation urged the necessity of immediate relief and asked, to make this possible, that congress be called into special session. Among the definite proposals submitted to the president were the revival of the United States Grain corporation, with a revolving fund of $50,000,000 and a deep cut on freight rates for farm products.

The request was made for a further increase in the tariff on wheat, under the power granted the president through the flexible tariff provision of the Fordney-McCumber law. The only mention of the tariff, it was stated, was in connection with the agitation by paint manufacturers for a reduction of the duty on flax. The farmers are solidly against this proposal.

President Coolidge enhanced his reputation as a good listener and asked many questions to elicit further information, but in no way committed himself or intimated what action if, he will take. It was asserted that Mr. Coolidge expressed a keen desire, if possible, to find some "economically sound and workable plan" of relief. No suggestion came from him as to the line he thinks this plan may follow.

Mr. Coolidge told the delegation at the conclusion of the hearing that he will meet later with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, and go over with them very carefully the facts of the situation and all possible methods of solving the problem.

The farmers explained at the outset, it was said, that they did not come to ask price stabilization by direct government price fixing. The wheat growers, the president was told, want help in marketing and price stabilization only insofar as it may be attained in this way.

President Coolidge requested Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to begin the immediate formulation of an executive program for farmer relief. The program will have for its principal feature the re-establishment of the United States Grain corporation, which was recommended to Coolidge and Wallace by the farmers' committee. The farmers were informed that their recommendations would be embodied in the Wallace plan, with such modification as the secretary may see fit to make.

CORRUPTION CHARGED

Washington Police Demand Dismissal of Dry Agents.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Charging that the Washington prohibition unit is a hotbed of corruption, police officials of the capital have served notice upon Federal Commissioner Haynes that they will withdraw their co-operation in enforcement activities unless he effects wholesale reforms. The commissioner has been given 48 hours, it was learned, to dismiss at least six agents attached to the local prohibition unit. Unless he complies, it is stated, the whole enforcement program will have to be handled by federal agents. The decision was reached at a secret conference attended by police department heads. Commissioner Haynes was invited to be present, but sent Rice Hoce, an attorney attached to his office.

Boy Run Down.

Columbus, Sept. 28.—John Featherstone, 7, colored, was struck and killed by an automobile while attempting to cross a street. His death is the 56th as a result of traffic accidents in this city since Jan. 1.

Village Razed by Fire.

Toledo, Sept. 28.—The village of Stony Ridge, eight miles south of Toledo, was swept by fire, causing a loss of $30,000.

MRS. JOHN J. ROGERS

To Visit Veterans' Hospitals Throughout the Country.

Mrs. Rogers is the wife of Representative Rogers of Massachusetts and was appointed by President Coolidge as his special representative.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Donahey Issues Proclamation.

Columbus, Sept. 28.—Governor Donahey issued a proclamation designating the week of Oct. 7 to 13 as "Fire Prevention Week" in Ohio. The governor asked that special attention be given during the week to the elimination of fire hazards, pointing out that the fire losses in Ohio during the last year amounted to $14,000,000 and cost 376 lives. "Our fire losses having become a serious matter, vitally affecting the welfare of the state, the assistance of all the people is necessary in order effectively to check this economic waste," he stated.

Bus Service Threatened.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 28.—This city may be without bus service to Canton, Cleveland, Akron, Salem, East Palestine and all intermediate points within a week if Safety Director Hamilton insists on enforcing his order banning all jitneys and buses from the Central square here. The order was to have gone into effect yesterday, but C. W. Norris, agent for all five bus lines, and a delegation of drivers obtained a temporary extension of the ordinance.

Goes Up For Life.

Cleveland, Sept. 28.—John Kahler was sentenced to life imprisonment when he pleaded guilty to second degree murder. Kahler had been indicted for first degree murder in connection with the death of Miss May Gorham, July 19. According to police, he was engaged to Miss Gorham, who was a sister of his brother's wife. Police claim the shooting occurred while Kahler was intoxicated.

Millionaire's Will.

Ashland, O., Sept. 28.—A trust fund of $100,000, income of which is to be used to help worthy boys and girls to secure an education, is provided for under the will of the late Dr. Gilbert Hess, millionaire stock food manufacturer, who died here Saturday. Ashland college received $5,000 and Samaritan hospital $10,000. The Ashland county children's home is willed $10,000.

Would Deport Bride.

Martins Ferry, O., Sept. 28.—Rev. William M. French, chaplain of the Martins Ferry American Legion posts, is seeking the aid of Congressmen Frank Murphy to prevent deportation of Mrs. Ralph Ferrari, wife of a member of the post, who served in the 308th engineers in France. Ferrari, after the war, was married in Italy. He brought his bride to this country.

Embezzlement Alleged.

Tiffin, O., Sept. 28.—Mrs. Charles L. Calhoun, formerly one of the leaders in club and social circles here, is under indictment by the Seneca county grand jury on two counts, each charging embezzlement of $400 in city and charity funds. Mrs. Calhoun, her health broken since the filing of charges against her by Mayor Unger, now lives in Fort Wayne.

Woman Hit by Machine.

Marion, O., Sept. 28.—Mrs. Charles Hartly is in a hospital here suffering from a broken rib and internal injuries as a result of being run down by an auto driven by Dewey Bolander.

Survey by Secretary of Commerce Hoover for 1922 shows trade balance of $586,000,000 against United States.

TRUCE DECLARED IN KLAN CLASH

Oklahoma Supreme Court Will Determine Who's Who.

AGREEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

Opposing Forces, It is Stated on Reliable Authority, Will Abide by the Court's Decision—Two Important Questions Raised by Counsel For Governor Walton—Hearing Set For Tuesday Morning.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 28.—By agreement of the opposing forces, the supreme court of Oklahoma will determine who's who in the legislative row and Governor Walton, it is stated on reliable authority, will abide by that decision.

The threatened clash at arms came to a sudden halt when the insurgent legislators filed their bill for an injunction to restrain the governor from further interference with their plans to meet and impeach him. Sixty-seven members of the house of representatives in the legal session, or thirteen more than the constitutional majority, signed the petition for the injunction.

The petition was presented to Judge J. I. Phelps of the district court of Oklahoma. By agreement of counsel for both sides the hearing was set for next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock before Judge Phelps.

As soon as the district court renders a decision, whichever side loses will immediately appeal to the state supreme court, which sits here in Oklahoma City and which is prepared to hear the case speedily. In the meantime the legislators have agreed not to attempt any action against the governor to assemble in any way until after the supreme court has spoken.

For the first time in the history of the courts in this country, it was stated by counsel in the litigation, the question finally is to be passed on by a high court as to whether a state legislature, once it has adjourned sine die, can revive itself for impeachment proceedings without submitting to a call by the governor for such extraordinary session.

A second important question that will be raised will be as to whether the governor of a state has the power to establish martial law that supercedes the highest courts of the state.

Both of these questions will be raised in the demurrer that will be filed Tuesday morning by counsel for the governor.

The petition for the injunction is directed against Attorney General Markham of the Oklahoma national guard, who, obeying the orders of the governor who is the commander-in-chief of the forces within the state, denied the legislators the right to assemble in the hall of representatives.

POISON SUSPECTED

Mystery Surrounds Death of Wealthy Society Woman.

New York, Sept. 28.—Mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Charles Webb, wealthy society woman, who died at the Westchester Biltmore Country club Tuesday night, may be cleared Saturday, Coroner Fitzgerald of Westchester announced.

At that time the coroner expects to receive a report on an autopsy ordered by him on complaint of relatives that Mrs. Webb died under suspicious circumstances. Analysis of the important organs of the dead woman was made, but the disclosures, if any, will not be given to the public until they are placed in the possession of the coroner. It is known, however, that poison is suspected.

Inquiry reveals that Mrs. Webb became ill about three weeks ago. Dr. W. J. Meyer of White Plains, long her personal physician, was called to attend her. He found her in such a serious condition that he immediately installed two nurses and began a desperate fight to save her life. She was suffering from some malady which baffled the skill of physicians and failed to yield to treatment. When Mrs. Webb died Tuesday night Dr. Meyer, without stating his reasons, refused to sign a death certificate.

Taxi Driver Indicted.

Zanesville, O., Sept. 28.—Clyde Bailey, taxi driver between Columbus and Cambridge, was indicted here for murder in the second degree. He is charged with hooting his wife.

John Stout, 76, an Indian scout for General Custer at the time of the latter's last stand, died at Delaware, Oklahoma.

THEORY FLOUTED

Jersey High School Girl Not Killed by an Automobile.

Millville, N. J., Sept. 28.—The authorities here, trying to unearth the murderer of pretty Emma Dixon, 15-year-old high school girl of many loves, have turned to the theory that her secret marriage or her plan to elope led to her slaying. It has always been a part of the hypothesis of the crime, worked out by Magistrate Wilson of Port Elizabeth, former secret service operative, that the church organist was killed at a distance from the thicket off the state road where the body was found. Magistrate Wilson insists that the theory advanced now by the Cumberland county authorities that the girl was killed by an automobile is untenable and holds that every indication points to murder.

FEDERAL TRADE BOARD REPORTS

Says Cost of Handling Grain Can and Should Be Reduced.

Washington, Sept. 28.—That the cost of handling grain can be and should be reduced is the finding of the federal trade commission in its report on costs and profits in the grain trade.

An increase in the co-operative marketing of their own grain by farmers is given by the commission as one of the means most available at the present time for reducing the spread in the price of grain which takes place from the purchaser to the consumer of grain. The commission also suggests that a reduction in freight rates and more direct shipments are desirable.

In a previous volume of the series on grain the commission has recommended the operation of public terminal elevators by railroad companies as an adjunct to the transportation service.

The report which is submitted to the president and to congress presents facts regarding the expenses and profits of country grain elevators, terminal elevators, and the margins in handling grain between the producer and grain consumer, that is, the miller or other converter of grain, the exporter or feed dealer.

For handling wheat in 1919-1922, the spread between producer and consumer of grain averaged 33.20 cents per bushel. Of this amount 14.31 cents per bushel went for transportation charges and 18.89 cents per bushel went to the middlemen. For the period 1912-1917 the spread on wheat averaged 24.71 cents per bushel. Of this 11.08 cents went for transportation charges and 13.63 cents per bushel went to the middlemen.

AMONG LEGION FUNMAKERS

Howard E. MacDonald of Seattle, Holds Office of "Correspondant National" of the Organization.

Although the Forty Hommes et Huit Chevaux organization is known as the "playground society" of the American Legion, its formation and development required the strenuous efforts of a number of Legionnaires.

Among the leaders in the funmaking body is Howard E. MacDonald, of Seattle, who holds the office of "correspondant national" or national adjutant of the organization.

MacDonald was a charter member of the third Legion post organized in Seattle, Rainier No. 21, and served as assistant adjutant and adjutant. This post later was consolidated with Elmer J. Noble Post No. 1, and became Rainier Noble No. 1.

He went to Kansas City as a delegate to the first Promenade Nationale

of the Forty and Eight. It was largely through his efforts that order was brought out of the chaos then existing in the national organization.

Upon the election of Edward J. Elvers, of Portland, Ore., as chef de chemin de fer (national president) of the order, MacDonald was made "correspondant national," and was reappointed to that office following the last convention at New Orleans.

MacDonald served 22 months in the army. He was overseas 14 months as a sergeant major, senior grade, Coast Artillery corps, at First Army Artillery headquarters.

LEGION WILL WAR ON DOPE

Americanism Commission Director Powell Makes First Announcement of Organization's Activity.

Ninety-five per cent of the ever-increasing dope peddlers in America are of alien birth or parentage, declared Garland W. Powell, director of the Americanism commission of the American Legion, in an address at Indianapolis recently. Mr. Powell said that if the drug menace is not checked this country will become a drug-soaked nation within 25 years.

This is the first official announcement that the American Legion would enter the war on illicit narcotic dealers and dispensers of habit-forming drugs. Mr. Powell urged that the restriction of immigration to this country would check the traffic in dope and that the Legion would proceed to that end.

In describing the activities of the dope peddlers, Mr. Powell made these assertions:

"One person in every seventy-three uses drugs as a habit. There are 1,500,000 persons now in America who cannot face existence without drugs, and who are swiftly sinking into a condition of hopelessness and death.

"The death of the drug addict is premeditated murder on the part of the peddler, for he knows the fatal result of the habit. If I were in a position to introduce a bill in congress or in state legislatures, I would make capital punishment the penalty for peddling drugs."

Mr. Powell made the statement that the use of dope is steadily growing among children. He declared that federal investigators had recently found cases of drug addiction among high school students, and also among the pupils of lower grades. He cited one instance where a peddler was arrested as he waited outside for his "customers" to come from their classes.

Alaska Women Active.
Women enrolled in the American Legion Auxiliary at Juneau, Alaska, are so earnest in their efforts to aid the disabled ex-service men that they have decided to "adopt" a hospital. They have written to R. E. Arne, director of war service, Pacific division of the Red Cross, suggesting that Walla Walla, Wash., hospital doubtless would be pleased to be "adopted" by the Auxiliary and receive the comforts they are eager to supply.

Drive for Better Streets.
The American Legion post of Rockdale, Tex., led a drive by the citizens there on the bad streets of the town. Every man, woman and child took a day off to repair the thoroughfares. All the trucks and wagons in the city were used to haul gravel and other materials, while the citizens did the manual labor. Although the Legion post is less than a year old, it owns a suite of well-equipped clubrooms.

WHY BIRDS MOVE

Glacial Era Held Responsible for Annual Migration.

Habit Started Same Time Changing Seasons Replaced Continuous Semi-Tropical Conditions.

The "honk" of the passing flocks of wild geese leaving the cold snap in the Far North is heard again in the pathway of the feathered migration en route for the sunny southland in the tropics.

It is said that flocks of migrating purple martins, teal and bobolinks and such like are on the wing making for their winter quarters on the Gulf coasts and further south, all of which, in bird life, indicates an early winter, for their unerring bird instincts never fail.

For more than 2,000 years, according to the investigations of the United States geological survey, the phenomena of bird migration have been scientifically noted, but while the extent and course of routes traversed have of late years become better known, no conclusive answer has been found to the question, "Why do North American birds migrate?"

Two different and diametrically opposite theories have been advanced to account for the beginnings of these migrations. The sum of these conclusions might be expressed in plain words, because it is natural.

According to the more commonly accepted theory, ages ago the United States and Canada swarmed with non-migrating bird life, long before the arctic ice fields, advancing south during the glacial era, rendered uninhabitable the northern half of the continent. The birds' love of home influenced them to remain near the nesting site until the approaching ice began for the first time to produce a winter—that is, a period of inclement weather which so reduced the food supply as to compel the birds to move or starve.

As the ice approached very gradually, now and then receding, these enforced retreats and absences—at first only a short distance and a brief time—increased both in distance and duration until migration became an integral part of the being of the bird. In other words, the formation of the habit of migration took place at the same time that changing seasons of the year replaced the continuous semi-tropical conditions of the preglacial eras.

As the ice advanced southward the swing to the north in spring migration was continually shortened and the fall retreat in a suitable winter home lengthened in proportion until the glacial period birds were, for most part, confined to middle South America. But the habit of migration had been formed and when the ice receded toward its present position the birds followed it northward and in time established their present diversified migration routes.

The late John Burroughs, eminent student of nature and bird life, long ago placed the District of Columbia in the direct path of bird migration.—Washington Star.

Wind Kneads Bread.
Foreigners are not so slow as Americans think they are in hastening to adapt themselves to up-to-date ideas, and also in devising ways and means of their own to accomplish their daily tasks more easily. Near one city in Europe an ingenious country baker has connected a windmill on top of his plant with machinery below, which mixes and kneads his bread. Indeed, baking may be said to be done by wind power. When baking is not going forward and the wind is still turning the mill this gratuitous power of nature is not permitted to go to waste, but is utilized by the thrifty baker for turning the wheels that grind the wheat and rye into flour.

Italian Fish Killed by Shock.
Italian anglers getting ready to spread their nets on Lake Bracciano recently were amazed to see the surface of the water covered with dead fish.

At first they believed it to be the work of poachers, who often start explosions under the rocks where fish are known to shelter; but some of the fish were sent to Rome for experts to study the case. The experts came to the conclusion that the fish had been killed by an electric shock, and this suggestion is supported by the fact that Lake Bracciano lies in the crater of a dead volcano.

Almost Repeated.
Of two friends at a hostelry where most keys fit most rooms, one went off to bed, undressed, and turned in, mistaking his friend's room for his own. Half an hour later the friend followed, saw his bed occupied and returned to the coffee room.
"Did you see me go to my room just now?" he said to the night porter.
"Yes, sir," was the reply.
"Well, then, why didn't you tell me I'd gone to bed already?" he grunted, and proceeded to finish the night on a chair in front of the fire.—Yorkshire Post.

Expanded Responsibilities.
"The automobile has made a great difference in our affairs."
"Yes," answered Cactus Joe. "And it ain't all in the line of improvement. It used to be possible to clear the moral atmosphere by hangin' a boss thief every month or so. But if you was to go after them flivver thieves from Snake Ridge the same way you'd have to start a massacre."

APPROACH ABSOLUTE ZERO IN GOVERNMENT TESTS

Frozen Hydrogen and the Same Element Liquefied Produced in the Bureau of Standards.

A small quantity of frozen hydrogen and about two quarts of the same element liquefied were produced at the bureau of standards, in a successful test of liquefying apparatus conducted by C. W. Kanolt.

This represented the result after chilling many thousand cubic feet of the gas down to a point close to absolute zero.

Several experiments were made with the hydrogen ice and liquid later before the Washington Philosophical society, a scientific organization, where Mr. Kanolt exhibited the product. The frozen hydrogen was described as similar in appearance to snow, while the liquid was colorless.

Doctor Kanolt told his hearers that a gallon of liquefied hydrogen was made in about two hours at the bureau of standards. The experiments there are on a larger scale than has ever been employed before.

In his talk he said:
"The method is rather simple in principle but involves practical difficulties which have interfered with its extensive use. The purpose of the bureau of standards has been first to secure liquid hydrogen when desired in very large quantities.

"The work at the bureau has been facilitated by the development of a method of analysis by which very small quantities of impurities can be measured. After liquid has been obtained, it is comparatively easy to freeze it by evaporating under reduced pressure. The freezing point of the liquid is minus 259 degrees Centigrade, which is 14 degrees above absolute zero."

In order to liquify the gas, a temperature of 253 degrees Centigrade—about 420 degrees Fahrenheit—below zero had to be attained. The hydrogen ice began to form a few degrees lower, at about 430 Fahrenheit below zero.

All the low temperatures were produced by expanding the gas itself after it had been compressed under pressure of 3,000 pounds a square inch, chilled by application of liquid air and then allowed to expand.

Production of the liquid gases will be continued as a part of the bureau's experimental work in studying behavior of materials and metals at very low temperatures.

Hydrogen has been liquefied before in the United States, but temperatures lower than those induced in the process have only been reached hitherto in Europe, where helium has been successfully liquefied.

Absolute zero, represented by 273.1 degrees on the Centigrade scale and by 459.6 degrees on the Fahrenheit, has thus been very nearly approached, according to the above dispatch. Absolute zero represents the temperature where there is an entire absence of heat and has never been attained by man.

FOOTBALLS FOR POILUS

Paris Sends "Parcels for Soldiers" to the Ruhr.

"Parcels for soldiers" are leaving Paris for Dusseldorf daily in carload lots, just as they used to be forwarded to the front during the war, and are helping to remind the French people of the continuing military occupation of the Ruhr.

Cigarettes and tobacco of all kinds, except that for chewing, form the bulk of the five-pound packages, with food and candy a good second. Games, fruit, books and jellies and pams are also popular with the army of occupation. One hundred footballs, sent at the special request of several units, formed one package which brought joy to the lonely poilus.

PHARAOH HAD INSOMNIA

Papyrus Reveals Hippopotami Disturbed Tut-Ankh-Amen's Sleep.

A piece of papyrus just translated by the British museum shows that King Tut-Ankh-Amen suffered from insomnia. Responsibility for the Pharaoh's ailment seems to have rested with certain hippopotami which made so much noise as they wallowed in the sacred lakes of Thebes that he found sleep impossible.

The papyrus tells of a quarrel the ancient monarch had with the owner of the beasts over whether the King's slumber should be sacrificed to their physical comfort. How the dispute was settled is not disclosed.

Built by the American People

THE Railroads were not built by railroad men, and they are not owned by railroad men. They were built by the merchants and farmers of the United States, and they are now owned indirectly by all the people of the United States.

The whole splendid system of railroads as it exists today was built with capital, energy and brains furnished by American business men and American farmers with the high purpose of developing the commercial and agricultural interests of the country.

Every one knows that as soon as the iron horse drew his shadow across the land the farms which the Government could scarcely give away suddenly jumped in value to fifty or a hundred dollars an acre, because the railroads had supplied them with the means of development, production and distribution.

When the railroads are making plenty of money, every shop is humming a song of happiness and every farm is growing rich.

VIC INCREASES HIGHWAY COST $7,000 PER MILE

As Candidate, Donahey Declared $30,000 Per Mile Too Much For Building Roads; as Governor, Donahey Builds Them at $37,000 Per Mile.

Columbus, O.—The 1922 road building program under Governor Harry L. Davis was $30,000 per mile, according to Davis' highway director, Leon C. Herrick.

During his 1922 campaign, Governor Vic Donahey cited this as evidence of "a strangle hold of the material interests on the state highway department," the head of which is named by the governor.

Now, under his own highway director, L. A. Boulay of Toledo, Governor Donahey proposes letting contracts for building of 68 miles of road at an apparent average cost of more than $37,000 per mile.

Had Donahey fulfilled his pre-election promises to build roads costing from $4,000 to $7,000 per mile, he would have saved the state $1,013,172 on the one letting of contracts for 39 miles, made on Aug. 24, if $6,000 per mile were taken as the average cost that Candidate Donahey promised to build roads for.

Under bids received at this letting, Donahey's director awarded new construction work to the extent of 39 miles at a cost of $1,247,172.26, making an average cost of $31,923 per mile.

Included in this letting are 15.5 miles of macadam, costing $25,275 per mile. It also embraces 4 miles of gravel, costing $11,713 per mile, without bridge work. This gravel is specified as two-course waterbound construction, being a cheap type of gravel road construction.

$79,000 Per Mile Here.

Another award is for two and three-fourths miles in Jefferson county, the contract price of which is in excess of $79,000 per mile.

The estimated cost of roads included in the bids opened by Director Boulay on Sept. 14 is much further away from the promise of cutting down road costs than the letting of Aug. 24.

New construction was advertised to the extent of 68.8 miles, at an estimated cost of $2,552,911.87, an average of $37,113 per mile.

In a letter to Governor Davis' highway director, Leon C. Herrick, whose term reached six months into Donahey's regime, Governor Donahey "demanded" that in every instance bids be taken upon macadam or gravel along with other types.

But under his own director, Governor Donahey offers in one sale 18 jobs open to high priced material, but in no instance open either to macadam or gravel.

One section of road in Lucas county is estimated to cost $93,465 per mile on concrete, or $113,916 on brick.

In Miami county a concrete type project, not open to Governor Vic's cherished gravel or macadam, is estimated at $78,000 per mile.

Uses Concrete In Gravel Country.

In Coshocton county, in the heart of the gravel deposits, there is a project on which only reinforced concrete is specified, estimated at a cost of $34,000 per mile.

A three-mile stretch of the Barnesville-Bellaire road in Belmont county is specified to be built of bituminous macadam at $35,515 per mile.

Material men say that even townships have practically abandoned the construction of waterbound macadam roads, yet in Brown county Governor Donahey proposes to build 9 miles of such construction on the Cincinnati-West Union road, at a cost of $26,400 per mile.

In addition to these jobs there are 17.2 miles of improvement for grading and bridge work, with no paving or road improvement of any kind, at an estimated cost of $231,618.37, or $13,477 per mile, or twice the amount which Governor Donahey promised to build roads for in Ohio.

The Republican state committee is not defending a gravel road policy as advocated by Governor Donahey. It merely calls attention to the cost of roads under the Donahey administration to show the inconsistencies of the governor.

THIRST OF SIX CHICKENS KEEPS WILLIS' AID BUSY

Ralph S. Dodds, six-foot assistant who is running the Washington office of Senator Willis while the latter is chautauquing in the Dakotas, Kansas, Nebraska and elsewhere, is spending the summer on a suburban "farm." An Ohio visitor, visioning Dodds splitting rails or digging ditches, asked him what was his hardest job.

"Well, I should say my hardest job is carrying water for six chickens," Dodds replied drily.

The most pusillanimous action by any politician in place of power was that of Governor Donahey's member of the state civil service commission, holding that the evidence supported the charges made as excuse for her expulsion from matronship of the Delaware Home for Delinquent Girls of Mrs. Mae Stannard.—The Week.

Suit In Damages.

Emma Davis has filed a suit for damages against John Swarbrick in common pleas court in which she claims damages for injuries in the sum of $500. The plaintiff says in her petition that she was driving north of the pike between Chillicothe and this city on July 23, and was riding in a Buick car when just about one mile north of Chillicothe a car driven by the defendant ran into and collided with the car in she was riding. She was thrown out and badly injured. Her arm and leg were bruised and she was under a doctor's care for more than three weeks and has ever since suffered from the injury incurred in the collision. Abernethy & Simkins represent the plaintiff.

RARE COIN COLLECTION TO BE MOVED TO CAPITAL Invaluable Assortment in Philadelphia Mint to Have Home in National Museum.

The forthcoming removal of the Philadelphia mint's invaluable collection of coins, tokens and medals to the National museum in Washington has aroused a feeling of disappointment in the former city.

The collection, begun when the mint was established in 1792, is said to be one of the finest in the world. It comprises 1688 coins minted and used in the United States since the coming of the colonists. There also are thousands of other coins representing more than forty nations.

It is impossible to estimate the exact value of the collection, which includes specimens of the New England shilling, an almost plain silver disc, dating from 1651 and made in the first colonial mint, established at Boston without the authority of the English crown.

There are specimens of the "Franklin cent," minted in copper from 1787 on. Because of the expression, "Mind Your Business," engraved on the coin, it was thought Benjamin Franklin was responsible for the design. This has since been considered improbable. The coin was struck in New York by James Jarvis, with whom congress contracted to coin 300 tons of copper.

A rare five-eagle, or $50 gold piece, minted in 1877, is included in the collection, together with Ephraim Brasher's doubloon, struck by a New York Jeweler in the Eighteenth century.

The greater number of coins are those from foreign countries. There are antique coins from Great Britain, France, Greece, Belgium, Norway, Sweden and other European countries. Some of these coins were minted by imperial cities, such as Augsburg and Bremen, as well as by bishops in Germany.

The collection contains three silver dollars minted in 1804; a half-dime of 1792, bearing an eagle flying and the words "Lib. Par. of Science and Industry—Unl. States of America"; gold coins struck in Philadelphia which bore for the first time "E Pluribus Unum"; coins which carried for the first time the words "God and Our Country."

There are also a large number of private gold coins minted near the mines.

PRESIDENT DECLINES TO MAKE SMALL COUSIN COP

Walter Hague, aged seven, of York, Pa., recently wrote his cousin, President Harding, asking Cousin Warren to give him authority to wear a badge inscribed: "Walter Dickerson Hague Has Permission to Do Police Duty After School in the Afternoon. Cousin Warren replied:

"Dear Walter: Miss Roszelle has sent me your letter asking me to grant you authority to do a little afternoon work on the police force. I am afraid the Yorkers would be doubtful about my right to intrude in this matter. I feel sure that a boy as big as you are, and a Dickerson at that, ought to be thoroughly competent, but it is a little hard to get the regulations in such matters waived. I think the best thing for you is to wait until you grow about two feet taller, and then you will probably be able to get on the force if you still want to do so."

$25 FOR NEST OF MOLES

American Museum Makes Offer, to Anyone Bringing in Prize.

Every farmer and commuter has a chance to make a valuable contribution to science. All they have to do is to know a mole's nest when they see one. The mole's nest is wanted by the American Museum of Natural History.

Farmers doing their planting and commuters starting their regular spring work on lawns and gardens are asked to keep their eyes open for a mole's nest for the director of the American Museum of Natural History, who says he will be very glad to pay $25 cash for a good nest of the American mole with young.

It appears that the life habits of Mr. and Mrs. Mole and the young moles are not well known, even to scientists and students of natural history. This in spite of the fact that the mole is a most common animal.

 SOCIAL CALENDAR ***

The Columbus Dispatch of Wednesday's issue gives the following account in its social columns of the marriage of Marcia Louise Pembroke daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Pembroke, to James C. Steffan, of Dayton. The bride's father is known to a number of older citizens, as he attended school here. "Andy," as he was known to his friends, was a newsboy early in the game of life and was also a carrier. After leaving here with his mother he got into the insurance and real estate game and commercially has become recognized in the business circles of Columbus.

"Six ushers seated the 400 guests gathered yesterday at Trinity Episcopal church to witness the marriage at 11:30 of Miss Marcia Louise Pembroke daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Pembroke to Mr. James C. Steffan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steffan of Dayton. While the guests gathered Mr. Karl Hoenig played a program of wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Howard L. Bryan who sang "All for You" and "Perfect Love." The costumes for the wedding party came from a page of long ago and were reproductions of quaint French frocks of the period of Louis XIV. The company was grouped about an altar massed with greenery and brightened with large baskets of delphiniums and gladioli. Rev. Dr. E. F. Chamcey, rector of the church officiated. The bride was given away by her father and she was attended by Mrs. Charles K. Dickson, (Anne Brown,) Montclair, New Jersey, as matron of honor; Miss Louise Asmus as maid of honor, Betty Crane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crane of Dayton, flower girl. Mr. Howard L. Bryan served as best man and ushers were Messrs. Ray Lee Jackson, David Putnam, Brooks Rodgerson, Myron Wilcox, fraternity brothers of the bridegroom in Delta Chi; Mr. Warren W. Pembroke brother of the bride and Mr. Russell Kastner of Dayton.

"The bridal gown was a combination of cream hand made lace, with cream satin and had a wide, very full skirt with tight bodice. Her tulle veil fell from a silver band adorned with orange blossoms and her flowers were lilies of the valley, swansonia, white roses and sunburst roses. Mrs. Dickson wore rose chiffon over rose pattern lace with picture hat of rose chiffon trimmed with flowers in pastel shades. Her flowers were American Beauty roses and delphiniums. Miss Asmus had a frock of blue chiffon over rose pattern lace and hat of the same while her flowers were similar to those of Mrs. Dickson. The flower girl was attired in a full frock of rose chiffon over yellow taffeta and carried a French basket filled with roses. Mrs. Pembroke, mother of the bride, had a gown of pale green georgette with gray hat and Mrs. Steffan was attired in black crepe Romaine with large black hat.

"Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke entertained with a wedding breakfast for the bridal party and members of the two families at the Columbus Country club. Mr. and Mrs. Steffan went east on their wedding trip and will make their home here after October 15. Mr. Steffan an alumnus of Ohio State university, is general manager of the Prudential Building Finance Co. His bride, formerly a student at Wells college, received her degrees at Ohio State last year and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority there.

"Guests from out of town other than the bridegroom's parents and members of the bridal party were Mr. Ralph Steffan of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Samuel Steffan, Miss Lena Steffan, Mrs. George Blanke, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Crane of Dayton and Mr. and Mrs. Cary Brown of Circleville."

At 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning September 22, in the Grove City Lutheran church the marriage of Miss Margaret Josephine Neff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Neff, of Derby, to Frank M. Hartford, 1932 Waldeck avenue, Columbus, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hartford of Tronto, Ohio, took place. Rev. E. N. Poppen performed the ceremony. Mr. Hartford graduated from Ohio State university in 1921 and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. They will make their home in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Thompson of Elm avenue, entertained to dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Levi Buchanan and daughter, Clara Jane, of near Circleville; Mrs. Edward Livingston and daughter, Mary Isabelle, Mrs. Dayton Haynes, Golda Haynes and little Frances Marie Haynes of Kingstons; also an over Saturday guest of Mrs. Livingston was Mr. James Burman Hinton of Springfield, Ohio, who motored to Circleville Sunday to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Thompson.

Mrs. Lucy Stonerock, formerly of this city, and Mr. William M. Wells, of Ashland, were married Saturday, September 22 and have gone to house-keeping at 133 East Third street, Ashland. Mrs. Wells is the mother of Mrs. Sam Winfough, of this city.

Miss Lillian Runkle, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Runkle of this city and Mr. Glenn S. Barnes son of Mr. Marion Barnes of Hallsville were married at Vanceburg, Kentucky Saturday, September 22. Rev. A. F. Feltz performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Harry W. Heffner will entertain Tuesday for Miss Annette Groce, whose marriage takes place October 9.

Mrs. Irwin Boggs and daughter, Miss Margaret, will entertain Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Samuel B. Orr will entertain Thursday for Miss Annette Groce.

TO PRESERVE UNION

Germany May Be Forced to Declare War Against France.

Paris, Sept. 28.—Grave fears are entertained here in high circles that Germany may be forced to declare war against France and Belgium in sheer desperation, in order to hold the Reich together, and prevent separatist movements in Bavaria, the Rhineland, Schleswig and elsewhere from developing.

Meanwhile a new worry has arisen in the Ruhr, as to how the Ruhr workers are to be paid when they return to work, now that the government can not keep up the industrial subsidies. Experts agree that France and Belgium may be called on to pay billions in salaries for months, necessitating new loans.

AMUSEMENTS

Alice Brady proves herself a real heroine in her latest Paramount starring vehicle "The Snow Bride," which will be shown at the Met theater Friday.

As Annette Leroux, a French Canadian girl, Miss Brady is in love with Andre Porel, played by Maurice B. Flynn, the sheriff of the little village of La Paix. In a fight with Indian Charlie, a half breed poacher of animals caught in white men's traps, Porel is wounded and left to die in the snow. Annette discovers him but is confronted by the all-important problem of getting this bulk of a man back to town and safety.

Annette half drags, half carries Porel many miles thru the deep snow-drifts back to La Paix where she immediately summons a physician, has the sheriff's wound attended to and by her careful ministrations saves his life.

Later on in the production circumstances evidence points an accusing hand at Annette as the murderer of her husband-to-be on their wedding eve. Sheriff Porel is forced to arrest her despite her claims of innocence. The girl is tried, convicted and sentenced to die by hanging while Porel stands by powerless yet calm in the thought that he has done his duty even if it did mean the greatest sacrifice that could be exacted of him.

The smashing climax that follows makes the "Snow Bride" one of the most novel and striking productions of the season.

Miss Brady is supported by a cast of stellar proportions. Besides Maurice B. Flynn, others are Mario Majeroni, Nick Thompson, Jack Baston, Stephen Gratton, W. M. Cavanaugh and Margaret Morgan.

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

RULES FOR FLAG OBSERVANCE

National Conference Codifies Regulations for Display of Respect to Colors.

Patriots of the United States at last may pay the flag of the nation full respect, without fear of violation of some phase of flag etiquette, due to the outcome of a national conference called for the purpose of codifying rules for flag observance.

Noting the dissimilitude of practices toward the flag, and the inability to make military observance coincide with that for civilians, the American Legion set out to settle all such questions and succeeded in the purpose by calling together representatives of nearly seventy organizations of various character for the promulgation of certain rules for future flag usage.

The conference was held at Continental hall in Washington. Gathered there were representatives of the army and navy, government agencies, veterans' organizations, patriotic societies, associations for welfare and organized movements for national development. These delegates represented 5,000,000 Americans. The conference was opened by an address by President Harding.

Garland W. Powell, director of the Americanism commission of the Legion, presided and named a committee which formulated a definite code, later to be adopted by the conference.

In addition to settling on the code for flag usage, plans for education in proper flag observance were formed and a program of contemplated legislation outlined, which would fix by statute certain rules for display of the national emblem. A point which will be stressed along this line will be the setting aside of June 14 as a day of appropriate ceremony and respect to the flag in every state. Another suggested measure calls for the flying of the flag from every main administration building and at every polling place in the nation. Schools would fly the flag during school hours, if a recommendation of the committee is followed, while general laws relating to punitive measures for misuse of the flag also are urged.

The code suggested by the committee contains many suggestions for usage of the emblem, with certain "don'ts" as violations.

The flag should be displayed from sunrise to sunset, only between such hours as designated by proper authority on national and state holidays, or on historic or special occasions. The flag should always be hoisted briskly and lowered slowly and ceremoniously. When carried in procession with another flag the place of the flag of the United States is on the right, that is, the flag's own right or when there is a line of other flags, the United States flag should be in front of the center of the line.

If displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs the United States flag should be on the right and its staff in front of the other flag. When flags are grouped or displayed from stands the United States flag should be in the center or at the highest point of the group. The United States flag should fly from the peak of a halyard on which flags of states, cities or societies are flown. If such flags are hoisted the United States flag should always be raised first. No flag or pennant should be placed above or to the right of the emblem. In flying flags of two or more nations the flags should be flown from separate staffs of the same height and the flags of equal size.

A common misuse of the flag takes place when the staff projects horizontally or at an angle from window sills, balcony or front of buildings. The union of the flag should go clear to the head of the staff unless at half staff. If the emblem is displayed other than from a staff it should be hung flat. If displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's right, that is, to the observer's left. If hung from the middle of a street, as between buildings, the union should be to the north in an east and west street or to the east in a north and south street.

When the flag is used on a speakers' platform it should be displayed above and behind the speaker. It should never be used to cover the speaker's desk or to drape over the front of the platform. If used in unveiling a monument the flag should not be allowed to fall to the ground, but should be borne aloft to wave out. If used to cover a casket the flag should be placed so that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder. The flag should not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground. The casket should be carried feet first.

If the condition of the flag is such that it is no longer fit for display it should be destroyed as a whole by burning or similar method.

The emblem should never be used as drapery, bunting being preferred for this purpose. It should never be used as a ceiling, part of a costume or uniform, embroidered on handkerchiefs or pillows, printed on envelopes, paper napkins or boxes.

Hotel Stenographer

BY ROE FULKERSON

"Poor thing!" said the Hotel Stenographer, as she watched the guests depart.

"If there is anything of earth I pity it is a sensible woman. She is up against a hard game. If some guy marries her before he finds out she is sensible, she will have a mighty tough hill to climb.

"Men do not like sensible women Kelly. All they want is an ornamental amusement device. Men have that complex of thinking they are profound. To make one of 'em happy, all you have to do is play you believe it. "A profound and sensible woman meets a man on his own ground and makes him realize his inferiority. A woman with a grasshopper mind, can yes-yes him and get everything he has earned as a result of his profundity.

"All a woman needs is an acrobatic mind. If she can turn mental flapjacks and tickle her particular meal ticket she can make him think he knows it all.

"If I were going to make a rule for women so they could make men happy it would be this: Ask 'em; don't tell 'em. There never was a man yet who did not like to take his knowledge out for an airing for the benefit of a good-looking woman. Any woman has a pretty good idea about what a man knows. All she has to do to entertain him is to ask him about something she knows he knows, and when he begins to explain she can go right on thinking about how she will trim that hat, without wasting time for he will amuse himself for hours, like a baby with a string of spoons."

"You think you are smart don't you?" asked the House Detective.

"Too smart ever to marry a plain-clothes cop!" snapped the Hotel Stenographer.

Continue, Please.

"Lord," prayed the old colored brother, "don't send more blessings than I can take care of, but when they git a good start, an' act like they want to keep coming, don't stop 'em."—Atlanta Constitution.

BOTTLERS MEET

Frank A. Lynch, Secretary, Will Attend Exposition at Providence.

There are approximately 450 manufacturers of soda water in Ohio and a large percentage of them will attend the annual convention and exposition of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages at Providence, Rhode Island, October 15 to 19. Headed by Mr. W. O. Mashburn, Cincinnati, a member of the A. B. C. B. executive board, President C. I. Smith, Columbus and Secretary Frank A. Lynch, Circleville, of the Ohio Bottlers' association they will make their headquarters at the Biltmore hotel.

Many of the Ohio bottlers will motor to Providence but most of them will take advantage of the special railroad rates. A large number, according to advices received at national headquarters, will be accompanied by their families.

Certificates by which round trip tickets to Providence may be purchased from any point in the United States for one and one-half fares are being issued to all bottlers who request them by Secretary Junior Owens of the A. B. C. B., 726 Bond building, Washington D. C. Hotel reservations are being made by Mr. Maurice Cohen, 414 Hopkin Homestead building, Providence, Rhode Island.

More than 5000 bottlers, their families and guests are expected to attend the Providence convention, which will be one of the largest industrial gatherings held in this country. More than one hundred manufacturing firms will have exhibits. Men of national note will address the convention and an elaborate entertainment program with special features for the ladies, has been arranged.

HARTMAN THEATER

A play that has been running in England for more than two years and is now in its second year in Dublin, Ireland, is to be seen at the Hartman theater Columbus the week beginning Monday night, October 1. It is "The Irish Jew" from the pen of John MacDonagh and it has been given a special production for this country. Morris Waxman has the titular role and it gives this fine actor a character which he is eminently well fitted to portray. Supporting him is a cast which was selected with special care and which is an excellent one in all particulars.

On the other side of the Atlantic people vied with each other in registering the greatest number of attendances, which is explained in that the play delighting at first sight, is of such a character as to make one wish to see it again and again.

At the first rehearsal in New York stage hands sat quietly for the first few minutes and then began to laugh and continued to laugh to such an extent that they cried. It is a tradition of the theater that if a play makes the stage hands laugh, its success is assured.

Charles O'Brien Kennedy, for many years with Arthur Hopkins enterprises has given "The Irish Jew" a splendid production. A more capable director was hard to find and he has made of the present play a genuine success.

The Hartman engagement includes matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Mail orders should be sent at once to the Hartman box office in order to insure obtaining good reservations. It is urged.

Extortion Alleged.

Dayton, O., Sept. 28.—Another attempt to obtain release on bond of Don Osborn and Rose Putnam, charged with attempt at blackmail and held in jail at Troy, has failed. Bond was refused. They are held in connection with an alleged attempt to extort money from John Bushnell, banker, of Springfield.

May Prefer Charge.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 28.—Officials of the Mahoning county dry league said that a charge of perjury probably will be preferred against Mrs. Anna Chepak, who charged J. Cal Huffman, state prohibition agent, with larceny. Huffman was acquitted in municipal court after a trial lasting four days.

Dam Not Built by Experts.

LOVE AND ROMANCE
By CORONA REMINGTON
(© 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

IT'S dreadful not to be the least bit in love; not even to have anything hanging around to fall in love with, and to see everywhere couples looking at each other with that how-I-adore-you, darling-how-could-I-live-without-you expression on their faces. Everybody had somebody—except Violette Ramsdale.

Then came John Hodges. He walked into her life as easily and unexpectedly as—well, as most lovers do.

"And so your name is Violette? May I use it?" he asked as they parted. A perplexed little expression chased itself across Miss Ramsdale's face. "I—I'm glad you like it," she said after a moment. "Yes, you may call me that."

Hodges took her here, there and everywhere. Each evening they were together and often lunch time found them seated across the table from each other in some quiet little restaurant. He wooed her impetuously, sent her flowers and brought her candy.

"You're so good to me," she said gratefully one evening as he was rising to go.

"How could any one help being good to you?" he asked. "You're so—so absolutely adorable."

Violette flushed and trembled. He was going to propose, she knew. What should she say? What should she do? "Violette, I—I love you."

He was drawing her into his arms, his eyes looked big and almost startled, so close to hers. "You lovely thing," he said reverently, kissing her.

It was over, the experience of her life, the one for which she had been waiting so long. She had been wooed and won—and kissed. That night, after he had gone and she had retired, she stared at the dark ceiling and lived over the blissful evening. She didn't want to go to sleep. How could she for a moment even endure the idea of shutting out all those thrilling memories with sleep? Sleep was for those who were bored and unhappy.

Then, in going over his every word for the fortieth time it occurred to her that, after all, he had not really proposed, that is, he had not actually said the words, but of course he meant it; did he mean it? The rest of the night was not so pleasant, and by the time she finally fell asleep she was glad that she had only let him have two little kisses.

The next morning she was decidedly uneasy, and she remembered now a slight feeling, not exactly of mistrust, but perhaps more a feeling of not complete trust, that she had always had when she was with him. But it was so sweet to be loved, and she had been so lonely.

"What makes you so quiet and solemn today?" asked her employer, Jim Foster. "You don't seem a bit like your happy little self."

Violette flushed and looked down at her typewriter.

"I don't believe it's anything," she said shakily.

"Well, if you need any help or advice, Violette, remember Jim Foster's right here."

She flashed him a grateful look and turned to the jangling telephone.

"This is John, darling," came the voice over the wire. "I'm so sorry I have a business engagement and can't get down to take you to lunch today. So, so sorry, dear."

So she went alone at noon and chanced to go to a dainty little tea-room a few blocks down the street. She would not go to any of their favorite haunts. It would make her feel all the lonelier. She had been sitting there a few minutes when she recognized the back in front of her as John's own well-tailored back. He was leaning across the table, talking to a pretty girl.

"You know I love you," she heard him say in a low tone, and in her horrified mind Violette could see his eyes glowing as they had when he had kissed her the night before. She jumped up and hurried out of the tearoom unobserved.

"Why, what's the matter, Violette?" her employer asked as she rushed into the office. "You haven't been gone ten minutes and you look as if you'd seen a ghost."

"Oh, nothing, nothing nothing!" she wailed, bursting into tears.

"Well, there's only one place for you to cry, and that's right here."

He held her quietly in his arms and stroked her soft hair.

"You know," he was saying gently, "you need a man like me to shoulder your woes, and when you are tired of running around with that he-vamp I'm going to propose to you, dear. I've been watching you, though, and I believe in letting a girl have it out. Sooner or later you'll find out he's not the kind for you, else I'm very much mistaken in him or you."

It was not romantic, this second proposal of hers, but it was so comfortable and safe and good.

"I'm through," she answered meekly a moment later. "I've found out, but I would have had to have that first experience to be able to appreciate you. I know now there's a big difference between love and romance. There's some love that's romance, but there's a whole lot of romance that isn't love."

"Right you are, but ours shall be both," he promised, happily.

When you buy a KELLY CORD TIRE you get the long mileage for which Kellys have always been famous. You also get the greatest degree of protection against skidding that has ever been obtainable in any tire.

A good tire deserves a good tube. In fact, without a good tube inside it the best of tires won't yield the service its makers have built into it. Kelly tubes are a real economy. They are made to help tires deliver the mileage for which Kellys have always been noted.

ROUND OAKS MAKE LASTING FRIENDS

Did you ever talk to a person who had used a Round Oak Coal Heater for a year or more? Do so at your earliest opportunity and learn why over two and one-fourth million Round Oak users are so well satisfied.

ROUND OAK COAL HEATERS

Surely the Round Oak Folks, who have never produced a medium priced or cheap article, could not testify for so many contented Round Oak users if their manufacturing policy were not based on quality. The shrewdest buyers in the world are not those who can pick the lowest prices, but those who can pick the goods with the highest quality. Investigate our line of heaters today.

Pumping Air Into the Brain.

A brain tumor often causes idiocy, and sometimes death. Physicians are always working upon some method by which tumors may be exactly located without injuring the patient. Recently a doctor has discovered a process by which purified air may be pumped into the brain. This makes it possible to locate exactly the position of tumors, and to remove them.

True Forgiveness.

Love is generous. Doing once is not enough. Real forgiveness must reach the seventy times seven mark and kindness be repeated indefinitely.

Caddy Miller just received a fine line of Sweaters and Sport Coats, the best you can buy. Come in and look them over.

Lace Tree.

The lace-bark tree provides the women of Jamaica with ready-made lace, from which caps, bonnets, and nets are made. The inner bark of the tree is soaked in water and divided into separate layers. Each layer is stretched and spread in the sunshine. The application of water bleaches the lace. A tree that flourishes in the South Sea Islands produces fruit which, as a food, resembles very closely a newly baked loaf. On account of this it is known as the bread tree.

Platinum in Oregon.

Platinum is so rare a metal, and at the same time so useful that when some time ago it was announced that it had been discovered in considerable quantity in southern Oregon great interest was immediately excited. It occurs in the black sand of the old channel placer deposits. During the last few years a method has been devised of saving the sand, which was formerly thrown away by the gold miners, and of mining the platinum at the same time with the gold. A few platinum nuggets as large as coffee grains have been found, but most of the metal is in very small grains.

COLLEGE OPENS

Freshmen at Marietta in First Week Numbered 113.

Marietta college opened its doors for its eighty-ninth year on Monday, September 24, of this week. The number of freshmen registered during the first week totaled 113 making this year's class the largest the college has ever received. Many more applicants were turned away because of their inability to meet the entrance requirements.

This year's class is made up of students representing more states in the Union than any previous class. Youngsters have traveled from the New England states, Central Atlantic coast section from the southwest, the west states adjoining Ohio for the purpose of receiving their education at the "Pioneer college."

Among the students at Marietta is Russell B. Drum of this city.

Immediately after the opening of college the first "outdoor activity" to command the attention of the students was football practice.

WEATHERVANE 350 YEARS OLD

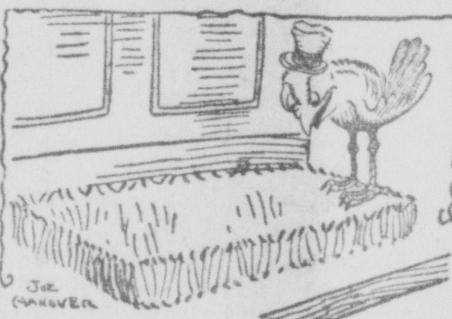

Copper Dragon on Church in London Has Withstood the Elements Since 1573.

Wide interest attaches to the 350th birthday of the old copper dragon of the Church of St. Mary-Le-Bow, Cheap-side, London, not only because of the age and historic interest of this old relic which is still in active service, but because its present birthday marks a renaissance of the copper weathervane. The increasing use of the weathervane on larger buildings is ascribed for the most part to the growing use of the tower in architecture.

The copper dragon of St. Mary's was placed in use in 1573, during the reign of "Good Queen Bess." From its lofty perch 221 feet above the sidewalk, it has looked down upon, and indeed participated in, many strange episodes in London life. Besides rendering faithful service through the changing winds of centuries, it has served as a symbol of the city of London itself, for, 350 years ago, when it was put up, the crest of the city was represented by the cross of St. George emblazoned on the wing of a dragon, just as it is represented there today.

This quaint copper dragon saw the rise and fall of Oliver Cromwell, the coming and passing of the Revolution and the Great Interregnum. It survived unscathed the great fire of London in 1666, so realistically described in the diary of Samuel Pepys.

The dragon is made of sheet copper and is eight feet six inches long. It has been taken down for regilding on four different occasions, but the copper itself has withstood the elements unharmed.

ROAD USES "DUMMY BOYS"

One New York Carrier Still Relies on Old Method to Warn of Train's Approach.

To New York alone of all the places or cities in the world belongs the distinction of maintaining an absolutely unique railway signal system which goes back to the first days of railroading. In these days of electric block signal systems and other similar up-to-date devices most people are under the impression that the mounted flagman riding ahead of trains passed about 1825, when Stevenson relied on such a courier to warn folks of the approach of his Rocket. But today on Tenth avenue, from which the surface railroad tracks have not yet been removed, New York depends on mounted couriers to keep speeding automobiles and lumbering trucks from the path of trains. They are known as "dummy boys." The "dummy boys" ride ahead of the trains to warn pedestrians and traffic of the train's approach, and when necessary they halt a train at a crossing by stationing themselves across the tracks. —From Railway Age.

Horrible Form of Torture.

Breaking on the wheel was a horrible mode of putting to death by torture formerly in use in Europe. The condemned criminal was first fastened to two pieces of wood in the form of a St. Andrew's cross, with his legs and arms extended, and had the bones of his shins and thighs and of the fore and upper arms broken with blows with a bar of iron. After that he was attached to a small carriage wheel balanced on a stake, and allowed to suffer in this position till he died, sometimes several days after the breaking of his limbs. Later the punishment was so far mitigated that the criminal was put to death by a final blow on the breast, spine or neck before being exposed on the wheel, and sometimes he was strangled before even the breaking of his limbs took place. The torture was last used in Prussia about 1811.

Not Guilty.

An old negro went to the office of the commissioner of registration in a Missouri town and applied for registration papers. "What is your name?" asked the official. "George Washington," was the reply. "Well, George, are you the man who cut down the cherry tree?" "No, suh, I ain't de man. I ain't done no work for nigh onto a year." —Western Christian Advocate.

Practiced.

"What's the chances of getting a job around here?" asked the man with a service button who had successfully gold-bricked his way through two years in the army. "I hate to turn down an ex-soldier, buddy," replied the foreman, "but we haven't got much to do these days." "Oh, that's all right. You'll find it doesn't take very much to keep me busy." —American Legion Weekly.

ALL GERMANY IN STATE OF SIEGE

Bavaria's Hands Strengthened By Berlin Decree.

AIMED AT THREATENED REVOLT

Dictator Von Kahr an Acknowledged Monarchist, Enjoying Confidence of All Parties — Communists Keep Up Agitation and Engage in Clashes at Several Points—Developments in German Situation.

Berlin, Sept. 28.—The German government was surprised by the report that an "exceptional condition" had been proclaimed in Bavaria, and that former Premier Von Kahr had been appointed general commissioner, which is about equal to dictator.

Later the government issued a decree proclaiming the same state of siege for all Germany, and placing all executive power in the hands of Minister of Defense Gessler.

The general feeling is that the Bavarian decree was an open challenge to the national cabinet. The latter's general decree was the prompt rejoinder. From a high governmental source, however, the following explanation was given: "It is quite incorrect to interpret the happenings as indicating hostility of Bavaria toward Berlin, or of Berlin toward Bavaria. On the contrary, Bavaria's action was wise, since it takes all the wind out of the sails of the extremists, while at the same time satisfying the less extreme, but strongly national elements, who demanded some action. The Berlin government's decree was designed solely to strengthen Bavaria's hands in the struggle against the forces which are threatening an uprising."

Despite the extraordinary situation created in Bavaria, best informed observers there do not expect any "putsch" from either side. Dictator Von Kahr, who is an acknowledged monarchist, enjoys the highest standing among all parties in Bavaria.

The Berlin Democratic and Socialist press assails the Bavarian action, the latter especially because Von Kahr is known to be bitterly opposed to the Socialists. It is reported that Herr Severing will be named dictator, and as he is a Socialist this fact illumines sharply the difference of the attitudes of Berlin and Munich.

Meanwhile the communists, keeping up their agitation, have staged a 24-hour protest strike at Essen and Gelsenkirchen and are demanding the overthrow of the Stresemann cabinet. The Hamburg communists have made a similar demand and have called to their followers "to the barricades," as in the French revolution.

A mob at Zuttan, Saxony, attacked the police, who were forced to fire, killing two and wounding 14 of the crowd. Monarchists and communists clashed at Annaberg, Saxony, and the result was one dead and 25 wounded. Despite the red activity, however, there seems to be little danger of a concerted "putsch" from that source.

WARD SOON TO KNOW FATE

Spends Thirty-second Birthday Anniversary in Court Room.

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Today is the 32d birthday of Walter S. Ward, and the young millionaire baker spent the morning listening to the charge to the jury that is trying him for the murder of Clarence Peters, the penniless ex-marine, who was killed by Ward May 16, 1922. By nightfall it is believed that Ward will either be under sentence of death in the electric chair, on his way to a long term in prison, or a free man, back home with his wife and two small children.

The summing up of the state was a dramatic event in which Attorney General Carl Sherman, himself but slightly older than Ward, thundered malediction upon the young millionaire, who, he said, had "slain an unarmed man."

Show Girl Marries Again.

Cleveland, Sept. 28.—Geneva Mitchell, show girl, whose marriage to Robert Savage, wealthy student, was annulled about a year ago, is married again, but again her mother threatens to have the marriage annulled because Geneva is still too young. This time the husband of Geneva is Jack Hayes, theatrical publicity man. Mrs. Verna E. Mitchell, herself at one time a show girl, says Geneva is only 16 now. A year ago, when Geneva married Savage, it was said, the bride was 17.

WOULD AID FARMERS

Development of Irrigation Projects Urged by Borah.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Further development of reclamation and irrigation projects throughout the west was urged upon President Coolidge by Senator Borah of Idaho as a measure of government aid to the farmers. President Coolidge was informed by the senator farmers are compelled to pay too much for water on reclaimed and irrigated lands, and that if these charges were reduced and payments extended over a longer period the farmers would be in better position to make a profit from their industry. Senator Borah announced that he will introduce his bill which was considered at the last session to cut the charges on reclamation projects in half and permit those who take up land under these projects to have forty years in which to pay.

NEWS BRIEFS

Mrs. J. W. Moss and Mrs. James P. Stevenson were drowned when an auto was driven into Norfolk (Va.) harbor.

Forty were killed in battles between agrarians and state troops around Santa Maria del Oro, in the Nayarit district of Mexico.

A band of about 40 men, some of them masked and armed, bound and gagged the guards at the warehouse of the Philadelphia Distilling company at Eddington, Pa., and escaped with from seven to 10 truck loads of whisky.

FARMERS MAKE APPEAL FOR HELP

Would Have Congress Called In to Special Session.

SUBMIT DEFINITE PROPOSALS

Agricultural Bankers and "Dirt" Farmers From Central Northwest Call at the White House and Give President Coolidge First Hand Information as to Conditions in the Wheat Belt.

Washington, Sept. 28.—President Coolidge heard from the mouths of "dirt" farmers and agricultural bankers from the affected states the story of desperate conditions in the wheat belt of the central northwest and their earnest appeals for help from their government.

The delegation urged the necessity of immediate relief and asked, to make this possible, that congress be called into special session. Among the definite proposals submitted to the president were the revival of the United States Grain corporation, with a revolving fund of $50,000,000 and a deep cut on freight rates for farm products.

The request was made for a further increase in the tariff on wheat, under the power granted the president through the flexible tariff provision of the Fordney-McCumber law. The only mention of the tariff, it was stated, was in connection with the agitation by paint manufacturers for a reduction of the duty on flax. The farmers are solidly against this proposal.

President Coolidge enhanced his reputation as a good listener and asked many questions to elicit further information, but in no way committed himself or intimated what action if, he will take. It was asserted that Mr. Coolidge expressed a keen desire, if possible, to find some "economically sound and workable plan" of relief. No suggestion came from him as to the line he thinks this plan may follow.

Mr. Coolidge told the delegation at the conclusion of the hearing that he will meet later with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, and go over with them very carefully the facts of the situation and all possible methods of solving the problem.

The farmers explained at the outset, it was said, that they did not come to ask price stabilization by direct government price fixing. The wheat growers, the president was told, want help in marketing and price stabilization only insofar as it may be attained in this way.

President Coolidge requested Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to begin the immediate formulation of an executive program for farmer relief. The program will have for its principal feature the re-establishment of the United States Grain corporation, which was recommended to Coolidge and Wallace by the farmers' committee. The farmers were informed that their recommendations would be embodied in the Wallace plan, with such modification as the secretary may see fit to make.

CORRUPTION CHARGED

Washington Police Demand Dismissal of Dry Agents.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Charging that the Washington prohibition unit is a hotbed of corruption, police officials of the capital have served notice upon Federal Commissioner Haynes that they will withdraw their co-operation in enforcement activities unless he effects wholesale reforms. The commissioner has been given 48 hours, it was learned, to dismiss at least six agents attached to the local prohibition unit. Unless he complies, it is stated, the whole enforcement program will have to be handled by federal agents. The decision was reached at a secret conference attended by police department heads. Commissioner Haynes was invited to be present, but sent Rice Hoce, an attorney attached to his office.

Boy Run Down.

Columbus, Sept. 28.—John Featherstone, 7, colored, was struck and killed by an automobile while attempting to cross a street. His death is the 56th as a result of traffic accidents in this city since Jan. 1.

Village Razed by Fire.

Toledo, Sept. 28.—The village of Stony Ridge, eight miles south of Toledo, was swept by fire, causing a loss of $30,000.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Donahay Issues Proclamation.

Columbus, Sept. 28.—Governor Donahay issued a proclamation designating the week of Oct. 7 to 13 as "Fire Prevention Week" in Ohio. The governor asked that special attention be given during the week to the elimination of fire hazards, pointing out that the fire losses in Ohio during the last year amounted to $14,000,000 and cost 376 lives. "Our fire losses having become a serious matter, vitally affecting the welfare of the state, the assistance of all the people is necessary in order effectively to check this economic waste," he stated.

Bus Service Threatened.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 28.—This city may be without bus service to Canton, Cleveland, Akron, Salem, East Palestine and all intermediate points within a week if Safety Director Hamilton insists on enforcing his order banning all jitneys and buses from the Central square here. The order was to have gone into effect yesterday, but C. W. Norris, agent for all five bus lines, and a delegation of drivers obtained a temporary extension of the ordinance.

Goes Up For Life.

Cleveland, Sept. 28.—John Kahler was sentenced to life imprisonment when he pleaded guilty to second degree murder. Kahler had been indicted for first degree murder in connection with the death of Miss May Gorham, July 19. According to police, he was engaged to Miss Gorham, who was a sister of his brother's wife. Police claim the shooting occurred while Kahler was intoxicated.

Millionaire's Will.

Ashland, O., Sept. 28.—A trust fund of $100,000, income of which is to be used to help worthy boys and girls to secure an education, is provided for under the will of the late Dr. Gilbert Hess, millionaire stock food manufacturer, who died here Saturday. Ashland college received $5,000 and Samaritan hospital $10,000. The Ashland county children's home is willed $10,000.

Would Deport Bride.

Martins Ferry, O., Sept. 28.—Rev. William M. French, chaplain of the Martins Ferry American Legion posts, is seeking the aid of Congressman Frank Murphy to prevent deportation of Mrs. Ralph Ferrari, wife of a member of the post, who served in the 308th engineers in France. Ferrari, after the war, was married in Italy. He brought his bride to this country.

Embezzlement Alleged.

Tiffin, O., Sept. 28.—Mrs. Charles L. Calhoun, formerly one of the leaders in club and social circles here, is under indictment by the Seneca county grand jury on two counts, each charging embezzlement of $400 in city and charity funds. Mrs. Calhoun, her health broken since the filing of charges against her by Mayor Unger, now lives in Fort Wayne.

Woman Hit by Machine.

Marion, O., Sept. 28.—Mrs. Charles Hartly is in a hospital here suffering from a broken rib and internal injuries as a result of being run down by an auto driven by Dewey Bolander.

Survey by Secretary of Commerce Hoover for 1923 shows trade balance of $586,000,000 against United States.

TRUCE DECLARED IN KLAN CLASH

Oklahoma Supreme Court Will Determine Who's Who.

AGREEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

Opposing Forces, It is Stated on Reliable Authority, Will Abide by the Court's Decision—Two Important Questions Raised by Counsel For Governor Walton—Hearing Set For Tuesday Morning.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 28.—By agreement of the opposing forces, the supreme court of Oklahoma will determine who's who in the legislative row and Governor Walton, it is stated on reliable authority, will abide by that decision.

The threatened clash at arms came to a sudden halt when the insurgent legislators filed their bill for an injunction to restrain the governor from further interference with their plans to meet and impeach him. Sixty-seven members of the house of representatives in the legal session, or thirteen more than the constitutional majority, signed the petition for the injunction.

The petition was presented to Judge J. I. Phelps of the district court of Oklahoma. By agreement of counsel for both sides the hearing was set for next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock before Judge Phelps.

As soon as the district court renders a decision, whichever side loses will immediately appeal to the state supreme court, which sits here in Oklahoma City and which is prepared to hear the case speedily. In the meantime the legislators have agreed not to attempt any action against the governor to assemble in any way until after the supreme court has spoken.

For the first time in the history of the courts in this country, it was stated by counsel in the litigation, the question finally is to be passed on by a high court as to whether a state legislature, once it has adjourned sine die, can revive itself for impeachment proceedings without submitting to a call by the governor for such extraordinary sessions.

A second important question that will be raised will be as to whether the governor of a state has the power to establish martial law that supersedes the highest courts of the state. Both of these questions will be raised in the demurrer that will be filed Tuesday morning by counsel for the governor.

The petition for the injunction is directed against Attorney General Markham of the Oklahoma national guard, who, obeying the orders of the governor who is the commander-in-chief of the forces within the state, denied the legislators the right to assemble in the hall of representatives.

POISON SUSPECTED

Mystery Surrounds Death of Wealthy Society Woman.

New York, Sept. 28.—Mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Charles Webb, wealthy society woman, who died at the Westchester Biltmore Country club Tuesday night, may be cleared Saturday, Coroner Fitzgerald of Westchester announced.

At that time the coroner expects to receive a report on an autopsy ordered by him on complaint of relatives that Mrs. Webb died under suspicious circumstances. Analysis of the important organs of the dead woman was made, but the disclosures, if any, will not be given to the public until they are placed in the possession of the coroner. It is known, however, that poison is suspected.

Inquiry reveals that Mrs. Webb became ill about three weeks ago. Dr. W. J. Meyer of White Plains, long her personal physician, was called to attend her. He found her in such a serious condition that he immediately installed two nurses and began a desperate fight to save her life. She was suffering from some malady which baffled the skill of physicians and failed to yield to treatment. When Mrs. Webb died Tuesday night Dr. Meyer, without stating his reasons, refused to sign a death certificate.

Taxi Driver Indicted.

Zanesville, O., Sept. 28.—Clyde Bailey, taxi driver between Columbus and Cambridge, was indicted here for murder in the second degree. He is charged with shooting his wife.

John Stout, 76, an Indian scout for General Custer at the time of the latter's last stand, died at Delaware, Oklahoma.

THEORY FLOUTED

Jersey High School Girl Not Killed by an Automobile.

Millville, N. J., Sept. 28.—The authorities here, trying to unearth the murderer of pretty Emma Dixon, 15-year-old high school girl of many loves, have turned to the theory that her secret marriage or her plan to elope led to her slaying. It has always been a part of the hypothesis of the crime, worked out by Magistrate Wilson of Port Elizabeth, former secret service operative, that the church organist was killed at a distance from the thicket off the state road where the body was found. Magistrate Wilson insists that the theory advanced now by the Cumberland county authorities that the girl was killed by an automobile is untenable and holds that every indication points to murder.

FEDERAL TRADE BOARD REPORTS

Says Cost of Handling Grain Can and Should Be Reduced.

Washington, Sept. 28.—That the cost of handling grain can be and should be reduced is the finding of the federal trade commission in its report on costs and profits in the grain trade.

An increase in the co-operative marketing of their own grain by farmers is given by the commission as one of the means most available at the present time for reducing the spread in the price of grain which takes place from the purchaser to the consumer of grain. The commission also suggests that a reduction in freight rates and more direct shipments are desirable.

In a previous volume of the series on grain the commission has recommended the operation of public terminal elevators by railroad companies as an adjunct to the transportation service.

The report which is submitted to the president and to congress presents facts regarding the expenses and profits of country grain elevators, terminal elevators, and the margins in handling grain between the producer and grain consumer, that is, the miller or other converter of grain, the exporter or feed dealer.

For handling wheat in 1919-1922, the spread between producer and consumer of grain averaged 33.20 cents per bushel. Of this amount 14.31 cents per bushel went for transportation charges and 18.89 cents per bushel went to the middlemen. For the period 1912-1917 the spread on wheat averaged 24.71 cents per bushel. Of this 11.08 cents went for transportation charges and 13.63 cents per bushel went to the middlemen.

AMONG LEGION FUNMAKERS

Howard E. MacDonald of Seattle, Holds Office of "Correspondent National" of the Organization.

Although the Forty Hommes et Huit Chevaux organization is known as the "playground society" of the American Legion, its formation and development required the strenuous efforts of a number of Legionnaires.

Among the leaders in the funmaking body is Howard E. MacDonald, of Seattle, who holds the office of "correspondent national" or national adjutant of the organization.

MacDonald was a charter member of the third Legion post organized in Seattle, Rainier No. 21, and served as assistant adjutant and adjutant. This post later was consolidated with Elmer J. Noble Post No. 1, and became Rainier Noble No. 1.

He went to Kansas City as a delegate to the first Promenade Nationale

of the Forty and Eight. It was largely through his efforts that order was brought out of the chaos then existing in the national organization.

Upon the election of Edward J. Elvers, of Portland, Ore., as chef de chemin de fer (national president) of the order, MacDonald was made "correspondent national," and was reappointed to that office following the last convention at New Orleans.

MacDonald served 22 months in the army. He was overseas 14 months as a sergeant major, senior grade, Coast Artillery corps, at First Army Artillery headquarters.

LEGION WILL WAR ON DOPE

Americanism Commission Director Powell Makes First Announcement of Organization's Activity.

Ninety-five per cent of the ever-increasing dope peddlers in America are of alien birth or parentage, declared Garland W. Powell, director of the Americanism commission of the American Legion, in an address at Indianapolis recently. Mr. Powell said that if the drug menace is not checked this country will become a drug-soaked nation within 25 years.

This is the first official announcement that the American Legion would enter the war on illicit narcotic dealers and dispensers of habit-forming drugs. Mr. Powell urged that the restriction of immigration to this country would check the traffic in dope and that the Legion would proceed to that end.

In describing the activities of the dope peddlers, Mr. Powell made these assertions:

"One person in every seventy-three uses drugs as a habit. There are 1,500,000 persons now in America who cannot face existence without drugs, and who are swiftly sinking into a condition of hopelessness and death.

"The death of the drug addict is premeditated murder on the part of the peddler, for he knows the fatal result of the habit. If I were in a position to introduce a bill in congress or in state legislatures, I would make capital punishment the penalty for peddling drugs."

Mr. Powell made the statement that the use of dope is steadily growing among children. He declared that federal investigators had recently found cases of drug addiction among high school students, and also among the pupils of lower grades. He cited one instance where a peddler was arrested as he waited outside for his "customers" to come from their classes.

Alaska Women Active.

Women enrolled in the American Legion Auxiliary at Juneau, Alaska, are so earnest in their efforts to aid the disabled ex-service men that they have decided to "adopt" a hospital. They have written to R. E. Arne, director of war service, Pacific division of the Red Cross, suggesting that Walla Walla, Wash., hospital doubtless would be pleased to be "adopted" by the Auxiliary and receive the comforts they are eager to supply.

Drive for Better Streets.

The American Legion post of Rockdale, Tex., led a drive by the citizens there on the bad streets of the town. Every man, woman and child took a day off to repair the thoroughfares. All the trucks and wagons in the city were used to haul gravel and other materials, while the citizens did the manual labor. Although the Legion post is less than a year old, it owns a suite of well-equipped clubrooms.

WHY BIRDS MOVE

Glacial Era Held Responsible for Annual Migration.

Habit Started Same Time Changing Seasons Replaced Continuous Semi-Tropical Conditions.

The "honk" of the passing flocks of wild geese leaving the cold snap in the Far North is heard again in the pathway of the feathered migration en route for the sunny southland in the tropics.

It is said that flocks of migrating purple martins, teal and bobolinks and such like are on the wing making for their winter quarters on the Gulf coasts and further south, all of which, in bird life, indicates an early winter, for their unerring bird instincts never fail.

For more than 2,000 years, according to the investigations of the United States geological survey, the phenomena of bird migration have been scientifically noted, but while the extent and course of routes traversed have of late years become better known, no conclusive answer has been found to the question, "Why do North American birds migrate?"

Two different and diametrically opposite theories have been advanced to account for the beginnings of these migrations. The sum of these conclusions might be expressed in plain words, because it is natural.

According to the more commonly accepted theory, ages ago the United States and Canada swarmed with non-migrating bird life, long before the arctic ice fields, advancing south during the glacial era, rendered uninhabitable the northern half of the continent. The birds' love of home influenced them to remain near the nesting site until the approaching ice began for the first time to produce a winter—that is, a period of inclement weather which so reduced the food supply as to compel the birds to move or starve. As the ice approached very gradually, now and then receding, these enforced retreats and absences—at first only a short distance and a brief time—increased both in distance and duration until migration became an integral part of the being of the bird. In other words, the formation of the habit of migration took place at the same time that changing seasons of the year replaced the continuous semi-tropical conditions of the preglacial eras.

As the ice advanced southward the swing to the north in spring migration was continually shortened and the fall retreat in a suitable winter home lengthened in proportion until the glacial period birds were, for most part, confined to middle South America. But the habit of migration had been formed and when the ice receded toward its present position the birds followed it northward and in time established their present diversified migration routes.

The late John Burroughs, eminent student of nature and bird life, long ago placed the District of Columbia in the direct path of bird migration—Washington Star.

Wind Kneads Bread.

Foreigners are not so slow as Americans think they are in hastening to adapt themselves to up-to-date ideas, and also in devising ways and means of their own to accomplish their daily tasks more easily. Near one city in Europe an ingenious country baker has connected a windmill on top of his plant with machinery below, which mixes and kneads his bread. Indeed, baking may be said to be done by wind power. When baking is not going forward and the wind is still turning the mill this gratuitous power of nature is not permitted to go to waste, but is utilized by the thrifty baker for turning the wheels that grind the wheat and rye into flour.

Italian Fish Killed by Shock.

Italian anglers getting ready to spread their nets on Lake Bracciano recently were amazed to see the surface of the water covered with dead fish.

At first they believed it to be the work of poachers, who often start explosions under the rocks where fish are known to shelter; but some of the fish were sent to Rome for experts to study the case. The experts came to the conclusion that the fish had been killed by an electric shock, and this suggestion is supported by the fact that Lake Bracciano lies in the crater of a dead volcano.

Almost Repeated.

Of two friends at a hostelry where most keys fit most rooms, one went off to bed, undressed, and turned in, mistaking his friend's room for his own. Half an hour later the friend followed, saw his bed occupied and returned to the coffee room.

"Did you see me go to my room just now?" he said to the night porter.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Well, then, why didn't you tell me I'd gone to bed already?" he grunted, and proceeded to finish the night on a chair in front of the fire.—Yorkshire Post.

Expanded Responsibilities.

"The automobile has made a great difference in our affairs."

"Yes," answered Cactus Joe. "And it ain't all in the line of improvement. It used to be possible to clear the moral atmosphere by hangin' a boss thief every month or so. But if you was to go after them silver thieves from Snake Ridge the same way you'd have to start a massacre."

APPROACH ABSOLUTE ZERO IN GOVERNMENT TESTS

Frozen Hydrogen and the Same Element Liquefied Produced in the Bureau of Standards.

A small quantity of frozen hydrogen and about two quarts of the same element liquefied were produced at the bureau of standards, in a successful test of liquefying apparatus conducted by C. W. Kanolt.

This represented the result after chilling many thousand cubic feet of the gas down to a point close to absolute zero.

Several experiments were made with the hydrogen ice and liquid later before the Washington Philosophical society, a scientific organization, where Mr. Kanolt exhibited the product. The frozen hydrogen was described as similar in appearance to snow, while the liquid was colorless.

Doctor Kanolt told his hearers that a gallon of liquefied hydrogen was made in about two hours at the bureau of standards. The experiments there are on a larger scale than has ever been employed before.

In his talk he said:

"The method is rather simple in principle but involves practical difficulties which have interfered with its extensive use. The purpose of the bureau of standards has been first to secure liquid hydrogen when desired in very large quantities.

"The work at the bureau has been facilitated by the development of a method of analysis by which very small quantities of impurities can be measured. After liquid has been obtained, it is comparatively easy to freeze it by evaporating under reduced pressure. The freezing point of the liquid is minus 259 degrees Centigrade, which is 14 degrees above absolute zero."

In order to liquefy the gas, a temperature of 253 degrees Centigrade—about 420 degrees Fahrenheit—below zero had to be attained. The hydrogen ice began to form a few degrees lower, at about 430 Fahrenheit below zero.

All the low temperatures were produced by expanding the gas itself after it had been compressed under pressure of 3,000 pounds a square inch, chilled by application of liquid air and then allowed to expand.

Production of the liquid gases will be continued as a part of the bureau's experimental work in studying behavior of materials and metals at very low temperatures.

Hydrogen has been liquefied before in the United States, but temperatures lower than those induced in the process have only been reached hitherto in Europe, where helium has been successfully liquefied.

Absolute zero, represented by 273.1 degrees on the Centigrade scale and by 459.6 degrees on the Fahrenheit, has thus been very nearly approached, according to the above dispatch. Absolute zero represents the temperature where there is an entire absence of heat and has never been attained by man.

FOOTBALLS FOR POILUS

Paris Sends "Parcels for Soldiers" to the Ruhr.

"Parcels for soldiers" are leaving Paris for Dusseldorf daily in carload lots, just as they used to be forwarded to the front during the war, and are helping to remind the French people of the continuing military occupation of the Ruhr.

Cigarettes and tobacco of all kinds, except that for chewing, form the bulk of the five-pound packages, with food and candy a good second. Games, fruit, books and jellies and pams are also popular with the army of occupation. One hundred footballs, sent at the special request of several units, formed one package which brought joy to the lonely poilus.

PHARAOH HAD INSOMNIA

Papyrus Reveals Hippopotami Disturbed Tut-Ankh-Amen's Sleep.

A piece of papyrus just translated by the British museum shows that King Tut-Ankh-Amen suffered from insomnia. Responsibility for the Pharaoh's ailment seems to have rested with certain hippopotami which made so much noise as they wallowed in the sacred lakes of Thebes that he found sleep impossible.

The papyrus tells of a quarrel the ancient monarch had with the owner of the beasts over whether the King's slumber should be sacrificed to their physical comfort. How the dispute was settled is not disclosed.

Built by the American People

THE Railroads were not built by railroad men, and they are not owned by railroad men. They were built by the merchants and farmers of the United States, and they are now owned indirectly by all the people of the United States.

The whole splendid system of railroads as it exists today was built with capital, energy and brains furnished by American business men and American farmers with the high purpose of developing the commercial and agricultural interests of the country.

Every one knows that as soon as the iron horse drew his shadow across the land the farms which the Government could scarcely give away suddenly jumped in value to fifty or a hundred dollars an acre, because the railroads had supplied them with the means of development, production and distribution.

When the railroads are making plenty of money, every shop is humming a song of happiness and every farm is growing rich.

VIC INCREASES HIGHWAY COST $7,000 PER MILE

As Candidate, Donahey Declared $30,000 Per Mile Too Much For Building Roads; as Governor, Donahey Builds Them at $37,000 Per Mile.

Columbus, O.—The 1922 road building program under Governor Harry L. Davis was $30,000 per mile, according to Davis' highway director, Leon C. Herrick.

During his 1922 campaign, Governor Vic Donahey cited this as evidence of "a strangle hold of the material interests on the state highway department," the head of which is named by the governor.

Now, under his own highway director, L. A. Boulay of Toledo, Governor Donahey proposes letting contracts for building of 68 miles of road at an apparent average cost of more than $37,000 per mile.

Had Donahey fulfilled his pre-election promises to build roads costing from $4,000 to $7,000 per mile, he would have saved the state $1,013,172 on the one letting of contracts for 29 miles, made on Aug. 24, if $6,000 per mile were taken as the average cost that Candidate Donahey promised to build roads for.

Under bids received at this letting, Donahey's director awarded new construction work to the extent of 39 miles at a cost of $1,247,172.26, making an average cost of $31,923 per mile.

Included in this letting are 15.5 miles of macadam, costing $25,275 per mile. It also embraces 4 miles of gravel, costing $11,713 per mile, without bridge work. This gravel is specified as two-course waterbound construction, being a cheap type of gravel road construction.

$79,000 Per Mile Here.

Another award is for two and three-fourths miles in Jefferson county, the contract price of which is in excess of $79,000 per mile.

The estimated cost of roads included in the bids opened by Director Boulay on Sept. 14 is much further away from the promise of cutting down road costs than the letting of Aug. 24.

New construction was advertised to the extent of 68.8 miles, at an estimated cost of $2,554,911.87, an average of $37,113 per mile.

In a letter to Governor Davis' highway director, Leon C. Herrick, whose term reached six months into Donahey's regime, Governor Donahey "demanded" that in every instance bids be taken upon macadam or gravel along with other types.

But under his own director, Governor Donahey offers in one sale 18 jobs open to high priced material, but in no instance open either to macadam or gravel.

One section of road in Lucas county is estimated to cost $93,465 per mile on concrete, or $113,916 on brick.

In Miami county a concrete type project, not open to Governor Vic's cherished gravel or macadam, is estimated at $78,000 per mile.

Uses Concrete in Gravel Country. In Coshocton county, in the heart of the gravel deposits, there is a project on which only reinforced concrete is specified, estimated at a cost of $34,000 per mile.

A three-mile stretch of the Barnesville-Bellair road in Belmont county is specified to be built of bituminous macadam at $35,515 per mile.

Material men say that even townships have practically abandoned the construction of waterbound macadam roads, yet in Brown county Governor Donahey proposes to build 9 miles of such construction on the Cincinnati-West Union road, at a cost of $26,400 per mile.

In addition to these jobs there are 17.2 miles of improvement for grading and bridge work, with no paving or road improvement of any kind, at an estimated cost of $231,618.37, or $13,477 per mile, or twice the amount which Governor Donahey promised to build roads for in Ohio.

The Republican state committee is not defending a gravel road policy as advocated by Governor Donahey. It merely calls attention to the cost of roads under the Donahey administration to show the inconsistencies of the governor.

THIRST OF SIX CHICKENS KEEPS WILLIS' AID BUSY

Ralph S. Dodds, six-foot assistant who is running the Washington office of Senator Willis while the latter is chautauquing in the Dakotas, Kansas, Nebraska and elsewhere, is spending the summer on a suburban "farm." An Ohio visitor, visioning Dodds splitting rails or digging ditches, asked him what was his hardest job.

"Well, I should say my hardest job is carrying water for six chickens," Dodds replied drily.

The most pusillanimous action by any politician in place of power was that of Governor Donahey's member of the state civil service commission, holding that the evidence supported the charges made as excuse for her expulsion from matronship of the Delaware Home for Delinquent Girls of Mrs. Mae Stannard.—The Week.

Suit in Damages.

Emma Davis has filed a suit for damages against John Swarbrick in common pleas court in which she claims damages for injuries in the sum of $500. The plaintiff says in her petition that she was driving north of the pike between Chillicothe and this city on July 23, and was riding in a Buick car when just about one mile north of Chillicothe a car driven by the defendant ran into and collided with the car in she was riding. She was thrown out and badly injured. Her arm and leg were bruised and she was under a doctor's care for more than three weeks and has ever since suffered from the injury incurred in the collision. Abernethy & Simkins represent the plaintiff.

Mortgage Foreclosed.

In the case of Meeker Terwilliger against Mervill E. RARE COIN COLLECTION TO BE MOVED TO CAPITAL

Invaluable Assortment in Philadelphia Mint to Have Home in National Museum.

The forthcoming removal of the Philadelphia mint's invaluable collection of coins, tokens and medals to the National museum in Washington has aroused a feeling of disappointment in the former city.

The collection, begun when the mint was established in 1792, is said to be one of the finest in the world. It comprises 1688 coins minted and used in the United States since the coming of the colonists. There also are thousands of other coins representing more than forty nations.

It is impossible to estimate the exact value of the collection, which includes specimens of the New England shilling, an almost plain silver disc, dating from 1651 and made in the first colonial mint, established at Boston without the authority of the English crown.

There are specimens of the "Franklin cent," minted in copper from 1787 on. Because of the expression, "Mind Your Business," engraved on the coin, it was thought Benjamin Franklin was responsible for the design. This has since been considered improbable. The coin was struck in New York by James Jarvis, with whom congress contracted to coin 300 tons of copper.

A rare five-eagle, or $50 gold piece, minted in 1877, is included in the collection, together with Ephraim Brasher's doubloon, struck by a New York jeweler in the Eighteenth century.

The greater number of coins are those from foreign countries. There are antique coins from Great Britain, France, Greece, Belgium, Norway, Sweden and other European countries. Some of these coins were minted by imperial cities, such as Augsburg and Bremen, as well as by bishoprics in Germany.

The collection contains three silver dollars minted in 1804; a half-dime of 1792, bearing an eagle flying and the words "Lib. Par. of Science and Industry—Unl. States of America"; gold coins struck in Philadelphia which bore for the first time "E Pluribus Unum"; coins which carried for the first time the words "God and Our Country."

There are also a large number of private gold coins minted near the mines.

PRESIDENT DECLINES TO MAKE SMALL COUSIN COP

Walter Hague, aged seven, of York, Pa., recently wrote his cousin, President Harding, asking Cousin Warren to give him authority to wear a badge inscribed: "Walter Dickerson Hague Has Permission to Do Police Duty After School in the Afternoon. Cousin Warren replied:

"Dear Walter: Miss Roszelle has sent me your letter asking me to grant you authority to do a little afternoon work on the police force. I am afraid the Yorkers would be doubtful about my right to intrude in this matter. I feel sure that a boy as big as you are, and a Dickerson at that, ought to be thoroughly competent, but it is a little hard to get the regulations in such matters waived. I think the best thing for you is to wait until you grow about two feet taller, and then you will probably be able to get on the force if you still want to do so."

$25 FOR NEST OF MOLES

American Museum Makes Offer to Anyone Bringing in Prize.

Every farmer and commuter has a chance to make a valuable contribution to science. All they have to do is to know a mole's nest when they see one. The mole's nest is wanted by the American Museum of Natural History.

Farmers doing their planting and commuters starting their regular spring work on lawns and gardens are asked to keep their eyes open for a mole's nest for the director of the American Museum of Natural History, who says he will be very glad to pay $25 cash for a good nest of the American mole with young.

It appears that the life habits of Mr. and Mrs. Mole and the young moles are not well known, even to scientists and students of natural history. This in spite of the fact that the mole is a most common animal.

* SOCIAL CALENDAR *

The Columbus Dispatch of Wednesday's issue gives the following account in its social columns of the marriage of Marcia Louise Pembroke daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Pembroke, to James C. Steffan, of Dayton. The bride's father is known to a number of older citizens, as he attended school here. "Andy," as he was known to his friends, was a newsboy early in the game of life and was also a carrier. After leaving here with his mother he got into the insurance and real estate game and commercially has become recognized in the business circles of Columbus.

"Six ushers seated the 400 guests gathered yesterday at Trinity Episcopal church to witness the marriage at 11:30 of Miss Marcia Louise Pembroke daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Pembroke to Mr. James C. Steffan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steffan of Dayton. While the guests gathered Mr. Karl Hoenig played a program of wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Howard L. Bryan who sang "All for You" and "Perfect Love." The costumes for the wedding party came from a page of long ago and were reproductions of quaint French frocks of the period of Louis XIV. The company was grouped about an altar massed with greenery and brightened with large baskets of delphiniums and gladioli. Rev. Dr. E. F. Chauncey, rector of the church officiated. The bride was given away by her father and she was attended by Mrs. Charles K. Dickson, (Anne Brown,) Montclair, New Jersey, as matron of honor; Miss Louise Asmus as maid of honor, Betty Crane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crane of Dayton, flower girl. Mr. Howard L. Bryan served as best man and ushers were Messrs. Ray Lee Jackson, David Putnam, Brooks Rodgerson, Myron Wilcox, fraternity brothers of the bridegroom in Delta Chi; Mr. Warren W. Pembroke brother of the bride and Mr. Russell Kastner of Dayton.

"The bridal gown was a combination of cream hand made lace, with cream satin and had a wide, very full skirt with tight bodice. Her tulle veil fell from a silver band adorned with orange blossoms and her flowers were lilies of the valley, swansonia, white roses and sunburst roses. Mrs. Dickson wore rose chiffon over rose pattern lace with picture hat of rose chiffon trimmed with flowers in pastel shades. Her flowers were American Beauty roses and delphiniums. Miss Asmus had a frock of blue chiffon over rose pattern lace and hat of the same while her flowers were similar to those of Mrs. Dickson. The flower girl was attired in a full frock of rose chiffon over yellow taffeta and carried a French basket filled with roses. Mrs. Pembroke, mother of the bride, had a gown of pale green georgette with gray hat and Mrs. Steffan was attired in black crepe Romaine with large black hat.

"Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke entertained with a wedding breakfast for the bridal party and members of the two families at the Columbus Country club. Mr. and Mrs. Steffan went east on their wedding trip and will make their home here after October 15. Mr. Steffan an alumnus of Ohio State university, is general manager of the Prudential Building Finance Co. His bride, formerly a student at Wells college, received her degrees at Ohio State last year and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority there. "Guests from out of town other than the bridegroom's parents and members of the bridal party were Mr. Ralph Steffan of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Samuel Steffan, Miss Lena Steffan, Mrs. George Blanke, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Crane of Dayton and Mr. and Mrs. Cary Brown of Circleville."

At 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning September 22, in the Grove City Lutheran church the marriage of Miss Margaret Josephine Neff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Neff, of Derby, to Frank M. Hartford, 1932 Waldeck avenue, Columbus, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hartford of Tronto, Ohio, took place. Rev. E. N. Poppen performed the ceremony. Mr. Hartford graduated from Ohio State university in 1921 and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. They will make their home in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Thompson of Elm avenue, entertained to dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Levi Buchanan and daughter, Clara Jane, of near Circleville; Mrs. Edward Livingston and daughter, Mary Isabelle, Mrs. Dayton Haynes, Golda Haynes and little Frances Marie Haynes of Kings-ton; also an over Saturday guest of Mrs. Livingston was Mr. James Burman Hinton of Springfield, Ohio, who motored to Circleville Sunday to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Thompson.

Mrs. Lucy Stonerock, formerly of this city, and Mr. William M. Wells, of Ashland, were married Saturday, September 22 and have gone to house-keeping at 133 East Third street, Ashland. Mrs. Wells is the mother of Mrs. Sam Winfough, of this city.

Miss Lillian Runkle, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Runkle of this city and Mr. Glenn S. Barnes son of Mr. Marion Barnes of Hallsville were married at Vanceburg, Kentucky Saturday, September 22. Rev. A. F. Feltz performed the ceremony.

Germany May Be Forced to Declare War Against France.
Paris, Sept. 28.—Grave fears are entertained here in high circles that Germany may be forced to declare war against France and Belgium in sheer desperation, in order to hold the Reich together, and prevent separatist movements in Bavaria, the Rhineland, Schleswig and elsewhere from developing.

Meanwhile a new worry has arisen in the Ruhr, as to how the Ruhr workers are to be paid when they return to work, now that the government can not keep up the industrial subsidies. Experts agree that France and Belgium may be called on to pay billions in salaries for months, necessitating new loans.

AMUSEMENTS

Alice Brady proves herself a real heroine in her latest Paramount starring vehicle "The Snow Bride," which will be shown at the Met theater Friday.

As Annette Leroux, a French Canadian girl, Miss Brady is in love with Andre Porel, played by Maurice B. Flynn, the sheriff of the little village of La Paix. In a fight with Indian Charlie, a half breed poacher of animals caught in white men's traps, Porel is wounded and left to die in the snow. Annette discovers him but is confronted by the all-important problem of getting this bulk of a man back to town and safety.

Annette half drags, half carries Porel many miles thru the deep snow-drifts back to La Paix where she immediately summons a physician, has the sheriff's wound attended to and by her careful ministrations saves his life.

Later on in the production circumstances point an accusing hand at Annette as the murderer of her husband-to-be on their wedding eve. Sheriff Porel is forced to arrest her despite her claims of innocence. The girl is tried, convicted and sentenced to die by hanging while Porel stands by powerless yet calm in the thought that he has done his duty even if it did mean the greatest sacrifice that could be exacted of him.

The smashing climax that follows makes the "Snow Bride" one of the most novel and striking productions of the season.

Miss Brady is supported by a cast of stellar proportions. Besides Maurice B. Flynn, others are Mario Majeroni, Nick Thompson, Jack Baston, Stephen Gratton, W. M. Cavanaugh and Margaret Morgan.

The AMERICAN LEGION

RULES FOR FLAG OBSERVANCE

National Conference Codifies Regulations for Display of Respect to Colors.

Patriots of the United States at last may pay the flag of the nation full respect, without fear of violation of some phase of flag etiquette, due to the outcome of a national conference called for the purpose of codifying rules for flag observance.

Noting the dissimilitude of practices toward the flag, and the inability to make military observance coincide with that for civilians, the American Legion set out to settle all such questions and succeeded in the purpose by calling together representatives of nearly seventy organizations of various character for the promulgation of certain rules for future flag usage.

The conference was held at Continental hall in Washington. Gathered there were representatives of the army and navy, government agencies, veterans' organizations, patriotic societies, associations for welfare and organized movements for national development. These delegates represented 5,000,000 Americans. The conference was opened by an address by President Harding.

Garland W. Powell, director of the Americanism commission of the Legion, presided and named a committee which formulated a definite code, later to be adopted by the conference.

In addition to settling on the code for flag usage, plans for education in proper flag observance were formed and a program of contemplated legislation outlined, which would fix by statute certain rules for display of the national emblem. A point which will be stressed along this line will be the setting aside of June 14 as a day of appropriate ceremony and respect to the flag in every state. Another suggested measure calls for the flying of the flag from every main administration building and at every polling place in the nation. Schools would fly the flag during school hours, if a recommendation of the committee is followed, while general laws relating to punitive measures for misuse of the flag also are urged.

The code suggested by the committee contains many suggestions for usage of the emblem, with certain "don'ts" as violations.

The flag should be displayed from sunrise to sunset, only between such hours as designated by proper authority on national and state holidays, or on historic or special occasions. The flag should always be hoisted briskly and lowered slowly and ceremoniously. When carried in procession with another flag the place of the flag of the United States is on the right, that is, the flag's own right or when there is a line of other flags, the United States flag should be in front of the center of the line.

If displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs the United States flag should be on the right and its staff in front of the other flag. When flags are grouped or displayed from staffs the United States flag should be in the center or at the highest point of the group. The United States flag should fly from the peak of a halyard on which flags of states, cities or societies are flown. If such flags are hoisted the United States flag should always be raised first. No flag or pennant should be placed above or to the right of the emblem. In flying flags of two or more nations the flags should be flown from separate staffs of the same height and the flags of equal size.

A common misuse of the flag takes place when the staff projects horizontally or at an angle from window sills, balconies or front of buildings. The union of the flag should go clear to the head of the staff unless at half staff. If the emblem is displayed other than from a staff it should be hung flat. If displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's right, that is, to the observer's left. If hung from the middle of a street, as between buildings, the union should be to the north in an east and west street or to the east in a north and south street.

When the flag is used on a speaker's platform it should be displayed above and behind the speaker. It should never be used to cover the speaker's desk or to drape over the front of the platform. If used in unveiling a monument the flag should not be allowed to fall to the ground, but should be borne aloft to wave out. If used to cover a casket the flag should be placed so that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder. The flag should not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground. The casket should be carried feet first.

If the condition of the flag is such that it is no longer fit for display it should be destroyed as a whole by burning or similar method.

The emblem should never be used as drapery, bunting being preferred for this purpose. It should never be used as a ceiling, part of a costume or uniform, embroidered on handkerchiefs or pillows, printed on envelopes, paper napkins or boxes.

Hotel Stenographer BY ROE FULKERSON

"Poor thing!" said the Hotel Stenographer, as she watched the guests depart.

"If there is anything of earth I pity it is a sensible woman. She is up against a hard game. If some guy marries her before he finds out she is sensible, she will have a mighty tough hill to climb.

"Men do not like sensible women Kelly. All they want is an ornamental amusement device. Men have that complex of thinking they are profound. To make one of 'em happy, all you have to do is play you believe it.

"A profound and sensible woman meets a man on his own ground and makes him realize his inferiority. A woman with a grasshopper mind, can yes-yes him and get everything he has earned as a result of his profundity.

"All a woman needs is an acrobatic mind. If she can turn mental flaps and tickle her particular meal ticket she can make him think he knows it all.

"If I were going to make a rule for women so they could make men happy it would be this: Ask 'em; don't tell 'em. There never was a man yet who did not like to take his knowledge out for an airing for the benefit of a good-looking woman. Any woman has a pretty good idea about what a man knows. All she has to do to entertain him is to ask him about something she knows he knows, and when he begins to explain she can go right on thinking about how she will trim that hat, without wasting time for he will amuse himself for hours, like a baby with a string of spoons."

"You think you are smart don't you?" asked the House Detective.

"Too smart ever to marry a plain-clothes cop!" snapped the Hotel Stenographer.

Continue, Please.

"Lord," prayed the old colored brother, "don't send more blessings than I can take care of, but when they git a good start, an' act like they want to keep coming, don't stop 'em."—Atlanta Constitution.

BOTTLERS MEET

Frank A. Lynch, Secretary, Will Attend Exposition at Providence.

There are approximately 450 manufacturers of soda water in Ohio and a large percentage of them will attend the annual convention and exposition of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages at Providence, Rhode Island, October 15 to 19. Headed by Mr. W. O. Mashburn, Cincinnati, a member of the A. B. C. B. executive board, President C. I. Smith, Columbus and Secretary Frank A. Lynch, Circleville, of the Ohio Bottlers' association they will make their headquarters at the Biltmore hotel.

Many of the Ohio bottlers will motor to Providence but most of them will take advantage of the special railroad rates. A large number, according to advices received at national headquarters, will be accompanied by their families.

Certificates by which round trip tickets to Providence may be purchased from any point in the United States for one and one-half fares are being issued to all bottlers who request them by Secretary Junior Owens of the A. B. C. B., 726 Bond building, Washington D. C. Hotel reservations are being made by Mr. Maurice Cohen, 414 Hoppin Homestead building, Providence, Rhode Island.

More than 5000 bottlers, their families and guests are expected to attend the Providence convention, which will be one of the largest industrial gatherings held in this country. More than one hundred manufacturing firms will have exhibits. Men of national note will address the convention and an elaborate entertainment program with special features for the ladies, has been arranged.

HARTMAN THEATER

A play that has been running in England for more than two years and is now in its second year in Dublin, Ireland, is to be seen at the Hartman theater Columbus the week beginning Monday night, October 1. It is "The Irish Jew" from the pen of John MacDonagh and it has been given a special production for this country. Morris Waxman has the titular role and it gives this fine actor a character which he is eminently well fitted to portray. Supporting him is a cast which was selected with special care and which is an excellent one in all particulars.

On the other side of the Atlantic people vied with each other in registering the greatest number of attendances, which is explained in that the play delighting at first sight, is of such a character as to make one wish to see it again and again.

At the first rehearsal in New York stage hands sat quietly for the first few minutes and then began to laugh and continued to laugh to such an extent that they cried. It is a tradition of the theater that if a play makes the stage hands laugh, its success is assured.

Charles O'Brien Kennedy, for many years with Arthur Hopkins enterprises has given "The Irish Jew" a splendid production. A more capable director was hard to find and he has made of the present play a genuine success.

The Hartman engagement includes matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Mail orders should be sent at once to the Hartman box office in order to insure obtaining good reservations, it is urged.

Extortion Alleged.

Dayton, O., Sept. 28.—Another attempt to obtain release on bond of Don Osborn and Rose Putnam, charged with attempt at blackmail and held in jail at Troy, has failed. Bond was refused. They are held in connection with an alleged attempt to extort money from John Bushnell, banker, of Springfield.

A SMILE.

A smile is quite a funny thing; It wrinkles up your face. And, when it's gone, you never find Its secret hiding place. But far more wonderful it is To see what smiles can do; You smile at one, he smiles at you, And so one smile makes two.

He smiles at some one since you smiled

And then that one smiles back, And that one smiles, until in truth, You fall in keeping track.

And since a smile can do great good By cheering hearts of care, Let's smile and smile and not forget That smiles go everywhere!

LOVE AND ROMANCE

By CORONA REMINGTON

(© 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

IT'S dreadful not to be the least bit in love; not even to have anything hanging around to fall in love with, and to see everywhere couples looking at each other with that how-I-dare-you, darling-how-could-I-live-without-you expression on their faces. Everybody had somebody—except Violette Ramsdale.

Then came John Hodges. He walked into her life as easily and unexpectedly as—well, as most lovers do.

"And so your name is Violette? May I use it?" he asked as they parted.

A perplexed little expression chased itself across Miss Ramsdale's face. "I—I'm glad you like it," she said after a moment. "Yes, you may call me that."

Hodges took her here, there and everywhere. Each evening they were together and often lunch time found them seated across the table from each other in some quiet little restaurant. He wooed her impetuously, sent her flowers and brought her candy.

"You're so good to me," she said gratefully one evening as he was rising to go.

"How could any one help being good to you?" he asked. "You're so—so absolutely adorable."

Violette flushed and trembled. He was going to propose, she knew. What should she say? What should she do?

"Violette, I—I love you."

He was drawing her into his arms, his eyes looked big and almost startled, so close to hers. "You lovely thing," he said reverently, kissing her.

It was over, the experience of her life, the one for which she had been waiting so long. She had been wooed and won—and kissed. That night, after he had gone and she had retired, she stared at the dark ceiling and lived over the blissful evening. She didn't want to go to sleep. How could she for a moment even endure the idea of shutting out all those thrilling memories with sleep? Sleep was for those who were bored and unhappy.

Then, in going over his every word for the fortieth time it occurred to her that, after all, he had not really proposed, that is, he had not actually said the words, but of course he meant it; did he mean it? The rest of the night was not so pleasant, and by the time she finally fell asleep she was glad that she had only let him have two little kisses.

The next morning she was decidedly uneasy, and she remembered now a slight feeling, not exactly of mistrust, but perhaps more a feeling of not complete trust, that she had always had when she was with him. But it was so sweet to be loved, and she had been so lonely.

"What makes you so quiet and solemn today?" asked her employer, Jim Foster. "You don't seem a bit like your happy little self."

Violette flushed and looked down at her typewriter.

"I don't believe it's anything," she said shakily.

"Well, if you need any help or advice, Violette, remember Jim Foster's right here."

She flashed him a grateful look and turned to the jangling telephone.

"This is John, darling," came the voice over the wire. "I'm so sorry I have a business engagement and can't get down to take you to lunch today. So, so sorry, dear."

So she went alone at noon and chanced to go to a dainty little tearoom a few blocks down the street. She would not go to any of their favorite haunts. It would make her feel all the lonelier. She had been sitting there a few minutes when she recognized the back in front of her as John's own well-tailored back. He was leaning across the table, talking to a pretty girl.

"You know I love you," she heard him say in a low tone, and in her horrified mind Violette could see his eyes glowing as they had when he had kissed her the night before. She jumped up and hurried out of the tearoom unobserved.

"Why, what's the matter, Violette?" her employer asked as she rushed into the office. "You haven't been gone ten minutes and you look as if you'd seen a ghost."

"Oh, nothing, nothing nothing!" she wailed, bursting into tears.

"Well, there's only one place for you to cry, and that's right here."

He held her quietly in his arms and stroked her soft hair.

"You know," he was saying gently, "you need a man like me to shoulder your woes, and when you are tired of running around with that he-vamp I'm going to propose to you, dear. I've been watching you, though, and I believe in letting a girl have it out. Sooner or later you'll find out he's not the kind for you, else I'm very much mistaken in him or you."

It was not romantic, this second proposal of hers, but it was so comfortable and safe and good.

"I'm through," she answered meekly a moment later. "I've found out, but I would have had to have that first experience to be able to appreciate you. I know now there's a big difference between love and romance. There's some love that's romance, but there's a whole lot of romance that isn't love."

"Right you are, but ours shall be both," he promised, happily.

Don't Go Run Down at the Heel

If your heels are all run down, You must never scold nor fret, For worrying and scolding Has accomplished nothing yet.

If your sole is off and gone, Or contains an ugly hole; By sighing or repining You will never win the goal.

If you'll listen just one moment I will tell you what to do, Tell you how to rid your troubles, "Bring us down your worn-out shoes."

We will give you a new sole, Build up your run-down heel, Make your shoes as good as new, Then now much better you will feel.

ROUND OAKS MAKE LASTING FRIENDS

Did you ever talk to a person who had used a Round Oak Coal Heater for a year or more? Do so at your earliest opportunity and learn why over two and one-fourth million Round Oak users are so well satisfied.

ROUND OAK COAL HEATERS

Surely the Round Oak Folks, who have never produced a medium priced or cheap article, could not testify for so many contented Round Oak users if their manufacturing policy were not based on quality. The shrewdest buyers in the world are not those who can pick the lowest prices, but those who can pick the goods with the highest quality. Investigate our line of heaters today.

Pumping Air Into the Brain.

A brain tumor often causes idiocy, and sometimes death. Physicians are always working upon some method by which tumors may be exactly located without injuring the patient. Recently a doctor has discovered a process by which purified air may be pumped into the brain. This makes it possible to locate exactly the position of tumors, and to remove them.

True Forgiveness.

Love is generous. Doing once is not enough. Real forgiveness must reach the severity times seven mark and kindness be repeated indefinitely.

Caddy Miller just received a fine line of Sweaters and Sport Coats, the best you can buy. Come in and look them over.

Lace Tree.

The lace-bark tree provides the women of Jamaica with ready-made lace, from which caps, bonnets, and nets are made. The inner bark of the tree is soaked in water and divided into separate layers. Each layer is stretched and spread in the sunshine. The application of water bleaches the lace. A tree that flourishes in the South Sea islands produces fruit which, as a food, resembles very closely a newly baked loaf. On account of this it is known as the bread tree.

Platinum in Oregon.

Platinum is so rare a metal, and at the same time so useful that when some time ago it was announced that it had been discovered in considerable quantity in southern Oregon great interest was immediately excited. It occurs in the black sand of the old channel placer deposits. During the last few years a method has been devised of saving the sand, which was formerly thrown away by the gold miners, and of mining the platinum at the same time with the gold. A few platinum nuggets as large as coffee grains have been found, but most of the metal is in very small grains.

COLLEGE OPENS

Freshmen at Marietta in First Week
Numbered 113.

Marietta college opened its doors
for its eighty-ninth year on Monday, September 24, of this week. The number of freshmen registered during the first week totaled 113 making this year's class the largest the college has ever received. Many more applicants were turned away because of their inability to meet the entrance requirements.

This year's class is made up of students representing more states in the Union than any previous class.
Youngsters have traveled from the New England states, Central Atlantic coast section from the southwest, the west states adjoining Ohio for the purpose of receiving their education at the "Pioneer college."

Among the students at Marietta is Russell B. Drum of this city.

Immediately after the opening of college the first "outdoor activity" to command the attention of the students was football practice.

WEATHERVANE 350 YEARS OLD

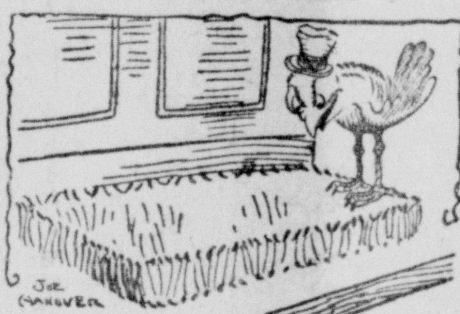

Copper Dragon on Church in London
Has Withstood the Elements
Since 1573.

Wide interest attaches to the 350th birthday of the old copper dragon of the Church of St. Mary-Le-Bow, Cheapside, London, not only because of the age and historic interest of this old relic which is still in active service, but because its present birthday marks
a renaissance of the copper weathervane. The increasing use of the weath-ercock on larger buildings is ascribed for the most part to the growing use of the tower in architecture.

The copper dragon of St. Mary's was placed in use in 1573, during the reign of "Good Queen Bess." From its lofty perch 221 feet above the sidewalk, it has looked down upon, and indeed participated in, many strange episodes in London life. Besides rendering faithful service through the changing winds of centuries, it has served as a symbol of the city of London itself, for, 350 years ago, when it was put up, the crest of the city was represented by the cross of St. George emblazoned on the wing of a dragon, just as it is represented there today.

This quaint copper dragon saw the rise and fall of Oliver Cromwell, the coming and passing of the Revolution and the Great Interregnum. It survived unscathed the great fire of London in 1666, so realistically described in the diary of Samuel Pepys.

The dragon is made of sheet copper and is eight feet six inches long. It has been taken down for regilding on four different occasions, but the copper itself has withstood the elements unharmed.

A FAKE
Bird—What kind of fool grass is this any way? It doesn't contain a single seed.

ROAD USES "DUMMY BOYS"

One New York Carrier Still Relies on Old Method to Warn of Train's Approach.

To New York alone of all the places or cities in the world belongs the distinction of maintaining an absolutely unique railway signal system which goes back to the first days of railroad. In these days of electric block signal systems and other similar up-to-date devices most people are under the impression that the mounted flagman riding ahead of trains passed about 1825, when Stevenson relied on such a courier to warn folks of the approach of his Rocket. But today on Tenth avenue, from which the surface railroad tracks have not yet been removed, New York depends on mounted couriers to keep speeding automobiles and lumbering trucks from the path of trains. They are known as "dummy boys." The "dummy boys" ride ahead of the trains to warn pedestrians and traffic of the train's approach, and when necessary they halt a train at a crossing by stationing themselves across the tracks.
—From Railway Age.

Horrible Form of Torture.

Breaking on the wheel was a horrible mode of putting to death by torture formerly in use in Europe. The condemned criminal was first fastened to two pieces of wood in the form of a St. Andrew's cross, with his legs and arms extended, and had the bones of his shins and thighs and of the fore and upper arms broken with blows with a bar of iron. After that he was attached to a small carriage wheel balanced on a stake, and allowed to suffer in this position till he died, sometimes several days after the breaking of his limbs. Later the punishment was so far mitigated that the criminal was put to death by a final blow on the breast, spine or neck before being exposed on the wheel, and sometimes he was strangled before even the breaking of his limbs took place. The torture was last used in Prussia about 1811.

Not Guilty.

An old negro went to the office of the commissioner of registration in a Missouri town and applied for registration papers. "What is your name?" asked the official.
"George Washington," was the reply.
"Well, George, are you the man who cut down the cherry tree?"
"No, suh, I ain't de man. I ain't done no work for nigh onto a year."—
Western Christian Advocate.

Practiced.

"What's the chances of getting a job around here?" asked the man with a service button who had successfully gold-bricked his way through two years in the army.
"I hate to turn down an ex-soldier buddy," replied the foreman, "but we haven't got much to do these days."
"Oh, that's all right. You'll find it doesn't take very much to keep me busy."—American Legion Weekly.

"The Store That Treats You Right"

Finding Your Suit
In a Store is Like
Finding Your Word
In a Dictionary!

In words, you at least have to have an idea how the word is spelled---and in clothes you at least have to go to the store that has your suit in stock before you can stalk in and claim it.

All stores like to talk about Variety---but here's one that knows what it is talking about.

For example---suppose you are looking for a Fall Suit and wear a size 38---

At 101 Main street it would take two hours to view and go over what we have to show in that size alone.

Seeing is believing---
